MRS. JERRY RUBIN — A TEAR

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal jury went into a third day of deliberations today on the fate of seven men charged with riot conspiracy but the defendants are already in jail and one of their lawyers has been sentenced to four years in prison for contempt.

Judge Julius J. Hoffman of U.S. District Court finished fixing sentences on the defendants for contempt Sunday, then turned to lawyers William M. Kunstler, and Leonard I. Weinglass.

He sent four defendants to jail Saturday and sentenced the remaining three Sunday. Defendants' sentences ranged from 29 months and 16 days for David T. Dellinger, 54, down to 2 months and 18 days for Lee Weiner, 31. Dellinger was cited on 32 counts and Weiner on 7 counts.

Jerry C. Rubin, 31, was sentenced to 25 months and 23 days on 15 counts; John R. Froines, 31, received 6 months and 15 days on 10 counts; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, sentenced to 14 months and 14 days on 11 counts; Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29, received 25 months and 5 days on 23 counts and Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, 31, was sentenced to 8 months on 23 counts.

A legal team composed of seven prominent attorneys — headed by Morton Stavis — announced Sunday it was preparing briefs to appeal the contempt of court sentences meted out to the defendants and their lawyers. Stavis is the administrative counsel of the law center for constitutional studies in New York.

Kunstler, 50, of New York City was sentenced to 48 months and 13 days on 24 counts of contempt. Weinglass, 36, of Newark, N. J., was sentenced to 20 months and 5 days in prison on 14 counts.

Kunstler read a two-page statement which said in part, "I have tried with all my heart faithfully to represent my clients in the face of what I considered repressive and unjust conduct . . . If I have to pay with my liberty for such representation, then that is the price of my beliefs and sensibilities."

"I may not be the greatest lawyer in the world but at

Nixon's Global Report on Wednesday

(Combined Wire Services) President Nixon will propose new initiatives for bettering American-Soviet relations in his first-of-its-kind "global report" this week based on the theme of a "new strategy for peace."

Nixon, back from a four-day Florida holiday, will send the extraordinary, 25,000-word document to Congress Wednesday, outlining U.S. foreign policy — including Vietnam — from when he

His only announced appointment for today was a morning ceremony in the East Room to present the 1969 national medals of science.

The recipients are: Herbert C. Brown, professor of chemistry at Purdue University, who made a contribution to synthetic organic chemistry; Robert J. Heubner, chief of the viral carcinogenesis Branch of the National Cancer Institute who has done research in the relationship between virus and cancer; Jack S. Kilby, assistant vice president of Texas Instruments, Dallas, who invented intricate electronic circuits used in computers; Dr. Ernst Mayr, director and professor, Museum of Comparative Zoology, Harvard University, who advanced modern understanding of biology and evolution; and Wolfgang K. H. Panofsky, director of the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, Stanford University, who conceived the idea of the two-mile long electron linear accelerator.

Mrs. William Feller will receive the medal on behalf of her husband, Dr. William Feller, a Higgins professor of mathematics at Princeton University who was cited for contributions to mathematics before his death Jan. 14.

The chief executive spent Saturday night and most of Sunday at the Bahamian island of New York industrialist Robert H. Ab-declining to be quoted by name, said omission of toxins from a Nov. 25 order banning bacteriological weaponry "was a slip-up."

Research in toxins now will be confined to defensive preparations, such as the search for improved vaccines. All stockpiled toxic weapons will be destroyed. The same policy applies to bacteriological agents.

The source said that while the new move was not directly related to strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, "It is a testimony to the spirit with which we approach these negotiations."

Meanwhile, the Treasury Department's top economist said today the $1.3 billion surplus in President Nixon's new budget is needed to combat inflation, but a much larger surplus would be unnecessary and could lead to a recession.

"The maintenance of a budget surplus is a clear signal to the money markets, private investors, and other sectors of the economy that the federal government is continuing to press its anti-inflationary effort," said Murray L. Weidenbaum, assistant secretary for economic policy.

"In contrast, too large an anticipated surplus could set in motion strong deflationary forces," he added in remarks prepared for the National Agricultural Outlook Conference.

Unveil Downtown Housing Plans

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Plans were unveiled for a multi-million dollar private housing project in the Broadway East urban renewal project today in Mayor Francis R. Koenig's office at city hall.

Up to 150 units are envisioned in the area off Broadway below St. Mary's Church and above the site for the proposed new city hall on Meadow Street.

The plan was initiated by three area savings banks about a year ago, the Kingston Savings Bank, the Rondout Savings Bank and the Ulster County Savings Bank, with a goal of providing mortgage monies for reconstruction of the Downtown area. It is expected that the mortgage money available will range from two to two and a half million dollars.

The project which began with the savings banks, has come to include a community group chaired by Clifford A. Henze, president of the Kingston Savings Bank, and consisting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, The State Urban Development Corporation, the mayor and the Common Council.

The project calls for between 100 and 150 units of varied type housing, including town houses and garden apartments, or medium rise apartment buildings. The housing will be aimed at the market for families earning between $5,000 and $9,000 per year. There has been little construction of this type of housing in the Kingston area in the past few years.

Dean Kintner, president of the Chamber of Commerce, speaking on the project, said, "There is little doubt that this housing project, once underway, can lead to other significant development in the downtown area. This in turn could be the catalyst for the development in other areas of Kingston."

Henze, in speaking of the background of the project, said, "The savings banks indicated a willingness to attempt to provide whatever assistance they could through the Institutional Securities Corporation and the Savings Bank Association of New York, to get something started in the downtown urban renewal area."

"The mutual savings banks, as responsible citizens of our community, have always been willing, if sought, to give whatever leadership and assistance their capabilities can provide to further urban renewal whether uptown or downtown."

While the three local banks have initiated the project, they will not bear the full brunt of the total cost. Funds will be forthcoming from members of the state banking associations who have operated similar projects in other parts of the state. Henze said he has contacted 29 banks in the Mid-Hudson Valley, many of whom have expressed interest.

The banks will make mortgage money available, at the prevailing FHA interest rates, for a private contractor to build in the Broadway East project.

A spring starting date for construction is targeted. Roy Matchwick, of Pattern for Progress, said there were many variables which might set back that target date but that construction would certainly start in 1970.

It is expected that the local sponsoring organization will be the Kingston Neighborhood Development Organization, a group formed last year that buys substandard homes, rehabilitates them, and sells them to low-income families. Henze said that consultants, designers and architects would be hired in the immediate future to lay out the project.

Mayor Koenig, speaking on the general growth in the Kingston area in the past few years, said, "We are all aware that Kingston also has unmet needs, especially in low and moderate income housing and in broadening our tax base. This construction is targeted. Roy Matchwick, of Pattern for Progress, said there were many variables which might set back that target date but that construction would certainly start in 1970.

past few years' new development. Too often overlooked by our residents are such recently completed projects as the New York Telephone and Burroughs buildings within the uptown area. Holiday Inn, 131 units of senior citizen and low income housing at Rondout Gardens, 128 middle income apartments at Stony Run, store expansion at Kingston Plaza, and such key projects under way as the uptown parking garage and new city hall."

In conclusion, Mayor Koenig said, "If Kingston is to continue as a major business and residential center in Ulster County, our community citizenry must mobilize its energies to take advantage now of the city's many assets in capturing a share of the population growth and economic development occurring in the Mid-Hudson Valley."

The Blaine Controversy—Will Try to Bridge Gap

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges indicated today he would try to strike a compromise with the Assembly on action to repeal the State Constitution's Blaine Amendment ban on financial aid to church-run schools.

A repeal measure zipped through the Senate last Tuesday but was flagged down in the Assembly by Republicans who insisted on adding an extra protection for New York taxpayers.

They revised the measure so that taxpayers would be entitled to bring court actions challenging any state-aid programs that might be enacted as a result of repealing the Blaine restriction. Since then the question has been whether the Senate would go along.

Brydges, the prime advocate of Blaine repeal, told The Associated Press he was thinking of a compromise.

"Maybe we could pass both of them and let next year's session decide which should go to the voters," he suggested.

That sort of thing has been done before, because it fits easily into the mechanics of of amending the Constitution. All amendments require approval by two separately elected legislatures, then must be submitted to the voters for a final say.

So whatever action the 1970 session takes is subject to further approval by the 1971 legislature. Brydges' compromise thus would settle the issue for the time being, if the Assembly agrees.

Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea Jr. planned to bring the revised bill to a vote in his house today. But, before doing so, he planned to discuss it further with his GOP majority in a closed conference.

Both houses, returning today from weekend recesses, also were expected to vote this week on Gov. Rockefeller's request for authority to make $30.7 million in "emergency" loans to rail, subway and bus systems in the state.

Rockefeller says that the money is badly needed to clean and repair neglected equipment and provide on-time service for the state's transit riders. Brydges said the money bill is ready for action.

Democrats have questioned the constitutionality of lending state funds to privately owned lines. But Republicans maintain this would be permissible on a "service" basis—that is, if the companies agreed to perform certain services in return for financial help.

Rockefeller and Brydges both made news over the weekend by offering legislative proposals bound to stir discussion at the Capitol.

The Republican governor endorsed a State Insurance Department study that recommends a completely new system for insuring motorists in New York State. In essence it would do away with the "fault" principle in settling accident claims and, instead, require each motorist to insure himself against damages with his own company—the same way health insurance is handled, for instance.

The new system is not likely to win favor with the legislature, because it would greatly reduce the need for negligence law suits, a major source of income for many lawyers. Most members of the legislature are lawyers.

Rockefeller also proposed a new program designed to curb drug addiction among New York youth. He recommended $1.2 million in appropriations for special handling of young addicts and an expansion of efforts to educate the young in the dangers of drug abuse.

Brydges said he would introduce legislation to make more money available for home mortgages in New York State. It would create a public authority that would buy mortgages from the banks, freeing their resources for reinvestment in new residential mortgages.

Lefkowitz, Dr. Abruzzi

Two Speakers for Kiwanis

KINGSTON — Two well-known speakers have been scheduled to address the Kingston Kiwanis Club this month — State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz and "White Lake" Dr. William Abruzzi of Wappingers Falls.

Lefkowitz, who describes himself "as the people's lawyer" will speak on "Consumer Protection and the Need for Self-Regulation." He will appear at 12:15 p.m. Thursday in the Crystal Room of the Gov. Clinton Hotel. His talk will precede the luncheon in order that he may keep an early afternoon commitment in Albany. Dr. E. S. McKay is in charge of program arrangements.

Dr. Abruzzi, a member of the staff of the Health Center, State University at New Paltz, received national recognition last summer for the medical help he provided at the now famous Woodstock Festival at White Lake. He will speak before Kiwanis, Wednesday, Feb. 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. The public is invited.

VILLAGE OF ROSENDALE

A special meeting of the Rosendale Village Board was held Sunday night to consider the petitions on the dissolution of the Village of Rosendale.

The petitions, which were presented to the Board at its regular meeting last Wednesday, are representative of over one-third of the total value of the assessed property in the village. The petitions express the desire of the people to have a choice in the type of government they want for the village.

Richard Priest, the initiator of these petitions made a statement to The Freeman concerning the special meeting in relation to the petitions. Priest stated, "A special meeting last night was held to consider my petitions for a resolution on the dissolution of the village. For the second time in less than a week, Trustee William Ritter-D with the obvious support of Joseph Reid, blocked an attempt by Trustee Kenneth Smith (R.) to bring this choice before the people.

Trustee Smith made a motion at the regular meeting Wednesday to put the question to a vote by resolution of the board and last night Smith made a motion to accept the petitions and put the choice before the people. Ritter refused to second either of these motions by Smith.

"Reid, in attendance, objected to the validity of the petitions on such grounds as each page was not numbered in sequence (1,2,3,4); that some people had not signed their full first name (Al instead of Albert); and the big objection was that I had not signed and notarized each individual page. Even though the Village Attorney could find nothing in the Village Law saying this was necessary, Reid and Ritter insisted he check further, thus postponing any action on the petitions once again."

According to Priest, once the petitions are validated the question of dissolution must appear on the March 17 ballot. There has been a committee of interested persons and they have the facts and figures necessary to prove that dissolution of the village of Rosendale will be the best thing for the people.

New Postal Program In 28th District

POUGHKEEPSIE

A major new postal service program designed to expand home deliveries to area residents of the 28th Congressional District has been announced by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. District-wide, 162 post offices are affected. Under the program, persons living more than a quarter mile but less than a half mile from post offices that do not have city delivery, are now eligible to receive mail delivery at home. Previously, they have been compelled to go to the post office for their mail.

In the past, people who live less than a half mile away from a post office have not been eligible to receive rural delivery service, Congressman Fish said, and because they live near a post office that does not have city delivery, they missed out there also, being forced to go to their post office for their mail.

"According to the announcement, the only requirement to obtain the service is that it must be requested of the postmaster, and a majority of those living in the area must desire the service," Congressman Fish said. "In this sense, it is an optional added service," the Congressman explained.

Fish, also announced today that colleges within the 28th Congressional District received a total of $32,749 in federal grants in fiscal year 1970 for Law Enforcement Education Programs.

Colleges within the Congressional District receiving this aid were the State University College at New Paltz, the Ulster County Community College and the Dutchess County Community College.

The goal of the federally assisted Law Enforcement Education Program is to assist in the creation of professionalization of all law enforcement personnel, police officers, correction officers and other criminal justice personnel. The program is to provide financial assistance for such persons for intensive higher education.

Paltz Airman Dies in Delaware

NEW PALTZ Air Force Sgt. Frederick A. Ruger, 27, of New Paltz, was killed Friday night as he ran across a highway and was hit by a car near a Delaware base where he was stationed.

Locally, a 7-year-old Saugerties boy who was injured when hit by a truck and a Sawkill man who was seriously hurt in a traffic accident on Route 9W near Lake Katrine, remained under treatment at hospitals in Kingston.

According to reports from Dover, Del., Ruger was struck by a vehicle as he reportedly ran across U.S. Route 113 near the main gate of the Dover Air Force Base. Delaware State Police said the accident happened shortly before midnight Friday. Ruger was pronounced dead on arrival at the base hospital.

The Saugerties boy, Harry Block Jr., of RD 1, Box 418, Saugerties, was reported in poor condition at Benedictine Hospital. He suffered multiple injuries in the mishap. Kingston State Police said the boy got off the school bus at 4 p. m. Friday on Old Kingston Highway near the intersection of Route 32. The child reportedly went toward his home and then started across the highway when he was hit by a truck owned by Amos Post Inc., Catskill, and operated by Dwyne Winant, 22, of Hollowville, Columbia County.

At 2:15 a. m. Sunday, a sedan operated by Michael Miggins, 26, of Hallihan Hill, Sawkill, was traveling south on Route 9W near the Kingston State Police barracks, when the vehicle ran head on into the highway divider. Miggins was removed from the scene to Kingston Hospital suffering possible chest and leg injuries and lacerations. His condition today was listed as satisfactory.

State Trooper E. A. Zeboris, who investigated the accident, cited Miggins for failure to keep to the right and operating an unregistered motor vehicle. The summonses are returnable before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly.

Authorities throughout the area reported they received reports of numerous highway accidents that occurred during the snow storm that turned to rain and sleet, coating highways with ice.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Newman investigated a collision that occurred at 4 p. m. Saturday on Main Street, Rosendale. The vehicles were owned by John Pagliaroni, 47, of Box 130, High Falls, and Thomas DiMico of Hillside Avenue, Hurley.

Pagliaroni was cited by the deputy for leaving the scene of an accident. DiMico's car was parked at the time of the mishap. There were no injuries.

At 1 a. m. Sunday cars highway and Barley was pulling operated by Edward Barley, 19, from a driveway when the of Box 915, Albany Avenue accident occurred, according to Extension, and Craig A. Net authorities.

Area Gets Three Inches of Snow

KINGSTON The first appreciable snowfall in over a month descended on Ulster County Sunday with accumulations of approximately three inches of new topping.

The Sunday storm mixed briefly with rain reverting back to snow before tapering off at about 5 p. m. Roadways were slicked with hard packed snow in some local areas this morning but all were passable and there were no school closings.

The landscape glistened under its new blanket of white this morning as the low pressure system moved into New England leaving crisp, clear weather in its wake.

Other portions of New York State were digging out of deeper accumulations today.

Up to nine inches fell on Cortland County Sunday, according to State Police reports. Most other parts of the state hit by snow received from three to six inches.

The snow was blamed for several multi-car accidents on state highways.

A car abandoned on the Thruway near Oswego set off a chain reaction as a dozen cars slammed into each other. Police said the car was stolen in Albany.

Near Saratoga Springs, about 20 cars piled up on Route 50, on which visibility was reduced because of wind-blown snow.

Only minor injuries were reported in the pileups.

The heaviest snow was in the lower Central portions of the state, including Cortland County. A snowfall of up to six inches was reported in Tioga, Tompkins, Broome, Otsego and Delaware counties.

The snow fell from the North Country to the Southern Tier, from Central New York to the Massachusetts-Vermont State lines.

The Weather Bureau said drier air will feed into the state today and further clearing will develop. Temperatures are expected to drop to near zero over much of upstate to down around ten below in northern sections.

'Some Misconceptions' Cleared

NEW PALTZ In a statement designed to clear up misconceptions regarding possible location of a proposed new elementary school for the New Paltz Central Schools, the board of education said this week it would not be "feasible" to build next to the present district high school.

Supervising Principal Frederick Dipple said a number of residents have suggested the school be built on vacant land near the high school in the community of New Paltz but the board rejected the idea "for several reasons."

One reason given by the board was it would not work "from a transportation point of view," because, said Dipple, "even if we had room on the high school buses to transport the primary school children it would not be feasible since the primary school children have a shorter school day than the high school and their school hours do not coincide."

He also said that although routes serving the central New Paltz community would be shorter, those serving "other routes would be longer because the new building would be serving also the children of Gardiner, Tuthilltown and Route 208 South."

In rejecting the thought of using the high school buses for primary children, he added: "Even if it could be worked out... it would be an undesirable situation since it is not good practice to have children of such wide age differences riding together on the same buses."

The board has proposed construction of the new school on a site between the village of New Paltz and the community of Gardiner in Gardiner township.

Senate Judiciary Committee

Carswell Approval Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee was called back into session today on the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell with all indications pointing to the Southern judge's approval by the panel.

The nomination, however, was tangled with a demand by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., that the committee first set a time for voting on his proposed constitutional amendment for direct popular presidential elections.

With the Bayh matter out of the way, there seemed little doubt the committee would pass its approval on Carswell, the second Southern judge President Nixon has tried to appoint to the high court seat vacated last May by Abe Fortas.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, who Feb. 5 forced a delay in committee action until this week, said before today's session he would take no further steps to hold up a vote.

The Maryland Democrat, generally considered against the nomination but who is publicly uncounted, said, however, the committee would override civil rights leaders objections and approve the selection as Carswell supporters and even critics had predicted.

Up to today, there had been no public, stated opposition from any committee members.

However, six other senators have announced they will vote against the nomination when it reaches the floor.

The latest was Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., who said Sunday night he was "appalled by the mediocrity of Carswell's nomination."

Carswell, now a judge on the U.S. 5th Court of Appeals "was and is a white supremacist," Williams said.

President Nixon nominated Carswell Jan. 19 after his earlier selection of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by a 55-45 Senate vote.

The Judiciary Committee concluded its hearings on Carswell's nomination Feb. 3, but at a closed door meeting immediately afterward Bayh objected to voting unless an agreement was reached first on acting on the proposed electoral reform amendment.

TAMPA BAY OIL — City of St. Petersburg employees place straw along a Tampa Bay shoreline to absorb oil washed onto the shore. Polyurethane foam and suction-equipped trucks were in operation today also in an attempt to control and clean up more than 10,000 gallons of heavy oil spilled into the bay by a Greek tanker that ran aground with a hole in her hull. Control efforts may have started too late, according to Coast Guard officials who say there is no control for the spread of oil. "All we can do is put straw and foam on it and pick it up when it comes ashore," Commander Anthony F. Fugaro operations head said. Meanwhile, hundreds of sea birds have been suffocated and shell fish are threatened. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

A Census Bureau Revision

WASHINGTON (AP) — People have not moved from state to state as expected, says the Census Bureau in revising its forecast for nine state delegations to the House of Representatives.

The new estimates also indicate Florida will gain two seats, and Arizona, Texas and Colorado one each. This would make California's delegation the largest at 42. New York would be next at 39.

New York and Pennsylvania are expected to lose two seats each, and North Dakota, West Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, and Wisconsin one each.

Gains or losses forecast for Arizona, Florida, Texas, North Dakota, West Virginia, Iowa, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin are unchanged from a bureau table dated March 7, 1967.

Ribicoff Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Six senators, all from outside the South, have joined Sen. Abraham Ribicoff in support of a Southern-backed proposal for equal enforcement of school desegregation laws in all sections of the nation.

An aide to the Connecticut Democrat said the senators, four Democrats and two Republicans, indicated their support after Ribicoff's surprise endorsement last week of an amendment offered by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss. The six were not named.

Ribicoff, a Kennedy administration Cabinet member, said he backed the equal treatment amendment because his conscience had been pricked by Stennis' long campaign to show that Northern schools have racial imbalances as glaring as those in the South.

He said if the South is forced to bus pupils out of their neighborhoods to balance racial ratios in the schools, it should be required in the North as well.

Aides said Ribicoff has received more than 70 letters and 60 telegrams from across the nation — 99 per cent favoring his position.

Apathy

Editor, The Freeman:

The real fault of our lawlessness, riots, race hatred, and their crimes (you name it) is the ordinary individual—the political system when corrupt—and the weakness of the church.

It is thus apathy which is slowly but surely leading us directly towards a Fascist state.

We talk about the weather and conditions in common—nothing can be done about the weather—but the other, we can if we will—the serious problems facing our nation and its whole social system.

Do we as Americans really care about our country? Many will be shocked at such a statement—but deep in our hearts we really are concerned.

It's generally the critics who to the least who may be the real threat to our problems, which we call, "one Nation under God."

We must interrogate the critic to determine if he has something to give which is better than what he's criticizing.

It has been said if we mind our own business; accept things as they really are, we'd be a lot better off, or you hear the phrase, "I don't want to hear it," or "I can't be bothered."

I feel this is nonsense because this negative attitude affords ammunition for crimes of all kinds, even corruption in political life while too many—far too many—ordinary citizens (including the critics) sit in apathy while laws are being made, broken, and elections held.

I agree citizens have certain rights which include demonstrations, but not the violent kind that insults the flag of the U.S. or to vilify and slander the government, officials or law abiding citizens.

Doesn't it make one wonder about people who work the average week bringing home the pay check, after a bath, and supper—the beeline to the T.V. set—like unconcerned spectators or robots.

This "what the hell" attitude goes on and on and the result is we are puppets of the social system seasoned with brain wash.

It happens everyday in our big cities. Over a hundred people stand to witness a murder in the street as if it were a movie.

No one comes forward to help. Why?

The crux of the matter is "who wants to get involved?" The result of being named as a witness, etc. They look the other way until the criminal has escaped.

When the law arrives possibly no one is at the scene and those who are will deny anything illegal was committed.

We do nothing to protect our fellow citizens until the law arrives because we take it for granted that is the status quo.

Why not get involved? Because it's the only way you can change the things you want changed.

This country is yours. Your ancestors fought and died for nearly 200 years.

The challenge of keeping it in good shape for generations yet to be and the present who will take our places is the responsibility of every responsible citizen.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Quoted Douglas

12 Catherine Street
Ellenville, N.Y.

February 11, 1970

Editor, The Freeman:

It's a cinch that whoever wrote the editorial: "Foresees Revolution" in tonight's Freeman, will never win the Pulitzer prize for editorial writing.

The editorial saw fit to completely ignore what Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court feels about wiretapping and electronic surveillance: "The FBI and the CIA are the most notorious offenders" he writes "but lesser lights also participate: Every phone in every Federal or state agency is suspect. Every conference room is assumed to be bugged. Every embassy phone is an open transmitter."

"Certain hotels in Washington have allotments of rooms that are wired for sound and even contain two-way mirrors, so that the occupants can be taped or filmed."

Justice Douglas makes the charge: "The Pentagon has a fantastic budget that enables it to dream of putting down the much-needed revolutions which will arise in Peru, in the Philippines, and in other benighted countries."

In his First Inaugural Address on March 4, 1861 Abraham Lincoln said:

"This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it, or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it."

Present day society is a sick society to say the least and is on its way to oblivion. The sooner the better.

It is completely inadequate to serve the needs of the majority of the people, the working class.

There is a need for the program of the Socialist Labor Party which is sound and is based on principles in accord with existing social conditions.

Goodell's Candidacy

Editor, The Freeman:

Following is a copy of a letter sent to the Honorable Charles Goodell, United State Senate, Washington, D. C.

As a result of Gov. Rockefeller's endorsement of your candidacy for elected U.S. Senator, the enrolled Republicans must now decide whether or not to support you.

I have decided to give you the same type of support that you have given to the Republican candidate for Mayor of N. Y. C., Nixon's Campaign of 1968 for President, the President's Program to end the War, the Sentinel Defense System and the Judge Haynsworth appointment. In addition, your efforts to get us involved in a war of attrition in the near East is in direct contrast with the President's efforts to de-Americanize the numerous hot spots around the world.

I trust my support will be effective and that you will enjoy considerable success in your Jamestown law practice.

Sincerely,

Aid to Parochial Schools

Editor, The Freeman:

The following letter is a copy of the one we just sent to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, on an issue of paramount importance to every taxpayer.

My Dear Mr. Bell:

The issue about which we wrote this last time (Jan. 20), is the one being considered right now by the state legislators — state aid to parochial schools. State aid money is our tax money, and it is the Roman Catholic Hierarchy which is now making the big push for our money to support its schools.

The examples we cited of benefits which churches already receive from state and federal government, in the form of tax-free land the businesses which the churches operate with no tax on profits, were given to point up the fact that they are very able to fully support their own religious schools without further picking the pockets of the taxpayers.

THEIR CRY OF POVERTY IS TOTALLY FALSE!

Look about and see how much new construction of Roman Catholic origin is going up before our eyes—one, for instance, being the new RCC school on Route 209, near Kingston. (I have yet to hear mention of the price tag it comes with.) Yet at the same time, Monsignors, Cardinals, etc. are crying poverty tears in an all out effort to get the government involved in supporting their schools.

You say that many legislators have the feeling that a tax inequity is created, and an excessively heavy tax burden falls on people who do not have exemptions, when religious organizations, for instance may need only 1500 acres, purchases in profit-making enterprises, and extend 55,000 acres of land and their tax exemptions religious organizations.

status to the whole 55,000 acres along with the buildings on it. We know this to be a fact too, any way for parochial schools, along with many other unfair and unkind subterfuges for getting more and more tax-free profit-making enterprises, and that it is common practice of

We are not in favor of any of our tax dollars being used in any way for parochial schools, and we want to see all church-owned or church operated businesses taxed the same as other free enterprise is taxed.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. D. F. MARSHALL

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 16, 1970

Up to the Taxpayer

Federal tax collections, in the fiscal year which ended June 30 last, totaled $187.9 billion, 22.3 per cent larger than the previous year. Individual income taxes of $97.4 billion were the largest source of revenue.

Since the economy has not slowed down appreciably, and employment remains high, there is every reason to believe that federal tax collections in the current fiscal year, which began July 1 last, will meet President Nixon's anticipated sum on which he has based his 1971 budget, including his hope of a slim surplus.

In fact, the presumptive revenue might act as a stimulus to those in Congress who are bent on spending for the stake of attracting certain classes of voters. That would defeat the President's plan to beat inflation by balancing the budget and showing a small surplus as proof to the money managers, the Federal Reserve, that the Government is serious in its desire to stem inflation.

The fight on inflation thus will depend on the taxpayer and his ability to convince his representatives in Congress that he wants government spending cut to reduce inflation. It is something we all must do because inflation is fast raising the cost of living out of the reach of most of us.

Our Unifying Strength

In preparing his State of the Union message, President Nixon said he had read the background of all such messages and found that "one theme ran through them all—almost without exception each President called upon divine guidance for himself and, more important, for the nation."

Nixon said that everyone recognized the necessity for divine guidance and that "this is a nation under God." One may wonder if the Supreme Court, with its decision denying school prayer and Biblical reading, recognizes this fact the President called so clearly to mind. Their disregard of it did not stop him from holding forth on its importance.

"This nation's fundamental, unifying strength, is that regardless of our backgrounds, this is a nation that from the beginning has had a religious value that all presidents have recognized," Nixon said.

Recalling that the age of permissiveness and the juvenile preoccupation with drugs and with immorality are products of recent times, we cannot escape the fact that the Supreme Court prayer decision of June 25, 1962, undermined two centuries of this nation's reliance on God. Taking away this reliance in school left students without the moral support they needed to mature.

General's Second Career

It is refreshing to hear of a general leaving the military, not to become head of some prestigious foundation or defense-oriented corporation at a fabulous six-figure salary but to enter the field of public service.

Lt. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis Jr., highest ranking Negro officer, first black graduate of West Point and son of the nation's first Negro general, has retired after 37 years in the military to become safety director of Cleveland.

As such, the former Air Force general will have direct civilian responsibility for the police department in a city which last year experienced one of the worst increases in its crime rate in its history.

"There is no other job that has the attractions," says Davis. "It has all the elements—conflict, human relationships, racial problems—everything that might be put under the heading of domestic crisis. I'm delighted to be a part of the national battle against these problems."

Davis was a hero of the war against Nazi Germany. May his second career be as distinguished in the no-less-urgent war on crime the nation is engaged in.

David Lawrence Says Education Problems Disturbing Americans

WASHINGTON — Every now and then, out of the thousands of letters received from citizens who reflect the undercurrents of American public opinion, there is one that states succinctly the case for the feelings which prevail at the time. Such a communication came the other day from a man who expresses the frustration of people in the area in which he lives. He writes:

"I am a physician in a small community — a 'country doctor' — trying to make my children, my town, my state and my country a little better for my having lived here, but in my heart, I sincerely believe that I speak for millions of people in our great country who would like for our nation to be even a better place for future generations."

"Wouldn't it be a pleasing thought if our Congress were made of all truly dedicated men instead of a conglomerate of too many petty politicians, all trying to further their political careers, and too few dedicated statesmen — if our Presidents were less concerned with their glorious image and more concerned with our country's present and future — If the federal government would quit creating bureaus that increase in size every year and become more dictatorial — If the Supreme Court could only be renovated. Lifetime tenure of the Supreme Court Justices is neither reasonable nor logical. Some men are sepilte at 60 years of age, and other men are in possession of all their faculties at 30 years of age. Does not our United States deserve the protection of having wise, competent men on the highest court at all times?

"I recall words uttered by one of the founding fathers of this nation, James Madison: 'The accumulation of all powers, legislative, executive and judicial, in the same hand, whether of one, a few, or many — or whether hereditary, self-appointed or elected — may be justly pronounced the very definition of tyranny.'"

"Isn't his (Madison's) statement just as true today? 'Why have the southern states been singled out for total, instant integration of our schools? We have had freedom of choice in schools for several years — right here in this section of Louisiana.'"

"The Civil Rights Act stated specifically that there would be no busing of students — yet the Health, Education, and Welfare Department and the Supreme Court have done just that. My children have been removed from the elementary school one-half block away and sent by bus to an elementary school two miles away. This is busing, is it not?"

"Is this to be the beginning of the second hundred years of the 'Reconstruction Era'? If a law is just, it must apply to all 50 states equally and at the same time."

"The people of the South pay the same rate of income tax. We are not a land of draft-dodgers when we are called on to serve our country, and we love our country. Be that as it may, we also love our children — they are our hope and our future and nothing is more important than their education. 'Has the United States of America degenerated to the extent that it must be controlled by edicts and decrees instead of laws? Every totalitarian nation that ever existed — from ancient Rome to Nazi Germany and to present-day Russia — was ruled in the same manner which, as history has shown, gets rapid results but ultimately brings on decay of that nation. Power corrupts, but absolute power corrupts completely."

Many people do not express themselves as well, but they feel as intensely as does the "country doctor." The big question is whether this feeling is really confined to just the southern part of the United States. The busing problem is, in fact, an issue also in the North, where concern is spreading, too, as the citizens foresee the possibility that their children may be transported to schools long distances from their homes.

Congress knows of this growing discontent but is confused by the various edicts and decrees issued by the Federal Courts and by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The courts have by no means clarified the questions, and the Supreme Court has not finally passed on the fundamental principles involved.

Under these disturbing circumstances, it is not surprising that in many sections of the country people have become uneasy not only about the problem of busing in the schools but the kind of teachers who will be employed and the quality of education their children may be getting in the next several years.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

I mourn the passing of the old-time racketeer. He was, at best, a small hustler with an intelligent tongue. His daily gambit was to entice suckers — you and me — into a small shake. Whether he was selling, buying or exchanging, the racketeer almost always came out on top. If he was caught, he went to prison with a pencil and pad, dreaming up new rackets.

At the turn of the century, a racket was a dance arranged for someone who was either sick, out of work, or couldn't pay the rent. Everyone chipped in a few dollars, and the racket was often staged in a street under colored lights. Later, the word racket implied a shakedown and the one who engineered it became known as a racketeer.

In the thirties, racketeers were small-time fakers. It was never easy to earn an illegal living, and most of the desperate little men I knew were afraid of being outwitted by the "mark," or victim. Some of the ploys went like this:

Two men hire a panel truck. They paint the name of a well-known furrier on the side. One drives, one remains in back. When they see a well-dressed pedestrian — man or woman — they slow down and say: "Pst!" The mark stops. He (or she) is waved to the truck.

"We're just truckmen, but this morning our company told us to deliver four mink scarves to Long Island and, by mistake, they gave us five. We don't make much and we have families. You wanna buy?" The fur, gorgeous, dark and thick, was displayed secretly.

The sucker bit, or didn't. If he did, he could have the $1,800 fur for $400. The reason the racketeer said $400 is because he expected to be jammed down to $200. When the money was paid, the truckman said: "I'll wrap it. You grab it and beat it." The package the sucker got contained a rabbit, and the truck disappeared.

Then there was the money machine. This can be sold only to wealthy morons. You turn a crank and $5 bills come out of the machine, fresh and green. The mark is invited to check the legitimacy of the money with his bank, and the bank proclaims them good $5 bills. The mark buys the gadget for $1,000, never pausing to ask himself why the racketeers themselves wouldn't grind that much, and more, out of it.

The sucker has larceny in his eyeballs. The machine is usually good for a dozen more turns of the crank, at which point it dries up and the mark becomes a crank. The money machine is as dead as the lottery in Spain. There, a group of racketeers used to buy American sucker lists.

Every name received a letter from a poor man confined in a Barcelona prison. He has won $500,000 in the lottery, but sorrowfully, it is outside the walls and he cannot reach it. If his unknown American friend can mail him $200 it will spring him and he may use the letter in his hand to demand half the lottery winnings. That particular racket induced tears on both sides of the Atlantic.

The punchboard racket was never good for more than $50. A salesman entered a candy store with a punchboard, and told the proprietor that there were two winning punch holes, one for $20, one for $10. To prove it, he punched them out. The candy store man bought the board. An hour later, a buddy of the racketeer came in, bought two cigars, and decided to try a lucky punch or two. Each good for 10 or 20 dollars.

The store owner had to pay. None of the small rackets work unless the mark is also a crook. Everybody remembers the chain letter. For a dollar, your name went on the bottom of the list. By the time it reached the top, you would receive $2,000 or more. It never got to the top. The racketeers, who invented the letter, siphoned all the cream off that one.

The meanest of all was the help wanted racket. It offered $150 a week to any man with no experience, unafraid of work. People responded by the thousands. The racketeer waited a day, then sent regrets on telegraph blanks to each applicant — collect. At 75 cents a phony telegram, with phony delivery boss, the racket netted $750 a day.

Last, and by no means least, is the stock tip racket. The crook buys a list of 1,000 investors at 10 cents a name. He sends individual letters, advising 500 that a certain stock will go up, advising the other 500 that it will go down. He's got to be right with 500.

Next week, he sends the lucky 500 another letter — 250 that the stock is going up, 250 down. Third week, 125 letters up, 125 down. Fourth week, visit the three-time winners and sell any stock, at a good fee.

O. Henry told a story about a racketeer selling a gold brick to a farmer. The farmer burst into tears. "Come in," he said, "come in. Mother and I haven't bought a gold brick or the Brooklyn Bridge since we were first married. Please do come in..."

Jack Anderson Says Patman Defeated in Attempt To Investigate Bank Lobby

WASHINGTON — Congressmen always shut the doors and bar the press when they want to hide their activities from the folks back home. Members of the House Banking Committee, therefore, took pains last fall to keep their discussions of the banking lobby secret.

They didn't want the voters to know how slavishly they had defended the banks whose earnings last year were the fattest in history. These record profits were squeezed out of the public, as interest rates soared in sudden great bursts like a multi-stage rocket.

The banks are not as beloved by the voters, therefore, as by certain Congressmen who have accepted cut-rate loans, legal fees, campaign contributions and other financial benefits from bankers in return for legislative favors. Confidential loan records made available to this column, for example, reveal that 124 House members are in hock to the said National Bank of Washington. They were able to borrow the money at 6½ per cent interest at a time when all other borrowers are paying at least 8 per cent.

It is scarcely surprising, therefore, that House Banking Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., ran into opposition when he tried to curb the influence of the banks on Capitol Hill. Looking every bit as benign as the bankers he battles, Patman ordered an investigation of the banking lobby.

He was stopped cold by his own committee members who countermanded his orders to the staff investigators. Patman subsequently took his case to the public in a speech to the National Press Club. Then behind closed doors, he tried again to persuade his committee to authorize the investigation.

Bullwhip Power

This column has now obtained a copy of the secret transcript which illustrates the bullwhip power of the banking lobby. As Congressman after Congressman argued heatedly against a bank probe, they provided the best evidence that the banking lobby needs investigation.

The committee members pounced unmercifully upon their chairman for seeking an investigation. They angrily demanded the specific evidence from him that they had blocked the staff from digging up.

Rep. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., who owns stock in the Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga and Nashville, led the attack. He rapped Patman for making "the kind of allegations he has made against what he calls the banking lobby but which directly imply wrongdoing on the part of members of this committee."

"I think it is doggone well time that this committee acted to substantiate whatever charges have been made. And if there is no substantiation, I think an apology is due the entire committee."

The chairman, his benign smile unchanged, started to present his case but Rep. Garry Brown, R-Mich., interrupted.

"Do you think you ought to be sworn if you are going to testify?" he demanded. The suggestion that a chairman be put under oath by his own committee was insulting, but Patman ignored it.

"No," he said mildly. "I don't need to be sworn." Then he ticked off his reasons for seeking an investigation of the banking lobby.

"The banking industry today," he said, "represents about $700 billion assets which is multiplied by its vast powers to control the nation's credit. Regardless of one's feelings about this industry, its potential to influence public opinion and public decisions is obvious."

Started Downside

He claimed that high interest rates are feeding the fires of inflation like gasoline. The combination of tight credit and steep costs, he warned, had started the nation on the downside to depression. It is imperative to counteract the influence of the bankers, he argued, and to reverse the government's tight money policy.

To perpetuate their influence, Patman charged, the banks raise an annual $355 million kitty. "They have as much as $1 million for every member of Congress," he said, "not for them personally but they have a fund every year that they have to equal to this. I want to make it plain that I am not impeaching a member of Congress on this, but they have over $355 million to spend."

Rep. Tom Ashley, D-Ohio, whose former legislative assistant Kathleen Lucey is the sister of a bank lobbyist, snapped: "If you say that no banking legislation is passed other than as a result of the economic power of the banks, I say you are a liar."

Patman described how the banking lobby had been snooping into the private lives of Congressmen. He had been furnished a copy of a questionnaire, he said, "distributed by a banking organization and designed to gather the most intimate details of a Congressman's private life. The questionnaire seeks information of the Congressman's drinking habits. It inquires as to whether he is a 'customer' of a bank...it asks about his family."

But it was Patman, not the bankers, who continued to draw the committee members' ire. Rep. Robert Stephens Jr., D-Ga., a stockholder in the First National Bank of Athens, Ga., accused the chairman of pressing for the bank lobby probe out of vindictiveness over the defeat of his one-bank holding company bill. This would have prevented banks from going into competition with their own customers.

Press Club Statement

"The investigation is sought," snorted Stephens, "because you lost the one-bank holding company bill that you wanted."

"You would question the integrity of this committee as a means toward your end," agreed Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., who has wangled over $100,000 in easy loans from a wide assortment of banks in New York, Florida, and points in between. Both Halpern and Stephens have received cut-rate loans from the National Bank of Washington.

"The chairman's statement before the Press Club," broke in Brock fiercely, "was the most irresponsible, venomous, vengeful attack I have ever witnessed by a member of this body on other members of this body."

"Oh no," protested Patman. "If you are going to investigate lobbying," declared Brock, cutting Patman off. "you have got to talk about all kinds of influence. You have got to talk about oil paintings. You have got to talk about paid trips — weekends. There are a lot of ways of effecting or maintaining relationships with a member of Congress."

Patman happily cited other ways that are used to woo members of Congress. He quoted ex-Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, who had written to him about the lobby investigation. Lausche had told in his letter, according to Patman, how banks influence legislators "one, by buying insurance policies from those legislators; two, hiring those legislators as real estate appraisers; three, hiring those legislators to act as legal counsel in the bank's business."

It was Stephens who offered the formal motion to kill Patman's proposed problem. The motion passed by a 19-13 vote.

"I consider that I have been defeated, that you voted against the lobby (investigation)," said Patman. He was no longer smiling.

Nixon Priority Is Revived Economy by Fall Election

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is not generally realized just how very determined President Nixon is that the economy shall begin to recover by election day this fall.

That means inflation slowed, though still too rapid, unemployment declining (from perhaps a high this summer), though not yet low enough to meet administration goals, and industrial production rising (after an early 1970 doldrums), though still not moving at a "reasonable" pace (as defined by the President's economists).

Consider these signs of Nixon's resolve:

He has picked as the new chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Arthur Burns, a man who sided with him in 1960, at a time when he, as vice president and presidential candidate, argued in vain that the Federal Reserve Board rediscount rate (and therefore interest rates and the ease of borrowing generally) should be lowered before his race with John Kennedy that year for the presidency. (Then Gov. William McCaskey Martin Jr. and his Federal Reserve Board did not lower the rate, money stayed tight, unemployment high — and Nixon lost.)

It hasn't been advertised, but Nixon is making it clear privately to businessmen that, if necessary, he will ease import restrictions on steel and other key goods from abroad to hold these crucial prices down.

There are strong indications in the 1971 budget proposals that (like President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara in their time) Nixon will not hesitate to put on the market some portion of the nation's huge stockpiles of strategic materials to force a hold-down of prices if that proves necessary. He has already quietly taken the first step by calling for and getting a review of the 76 items in the stockpile to see how much of each can be safely disposed of without endangering national security.

Nixon has shifted the 1971 budget emphasis in a series of steps so that more expenditures beginning in July, August and September of this year will be of a type that will funnel immediately into the hands of consumers (especially consumers who will spend their money quickly on essentials).

As a last resort, to meet the confidence crisis and the needs of the unfortunate in case these measures fail, Nixon has whupped up a portfolio of unemployment, welfare and other relief programs that will be able to feed money into the economy where it counts at a very rapid pace in case of necessity.

As an additional hedge, Nixon is proposing that if the unemployment rate should push above 4½ per cent and hold above that critical level for three straight months, he would automatically have a green light to spend an emergency unemployment kitty equivalent to 10 per cent of his manpower budget to meet the needs of men and women without jobs and to care for their families.

No one knows, of course, whether Nixon's economic strategy will work as planned. But there's no doubt about his determination. Nixon is convinced that in 1971 he must have a Senate and House of Representatives at least a little closer to his point of view if he is to get the laws he wants to carry out his objectives. He knows that historically the odds are very high indeed against a president increasing his congressional strength in off-year elections.

He knows that he has no hope at all if the economy is in the doldrums, unemployment high and prices rising. That puts the yoke on his back.

BERRY'S WORLD

"... And THIS group is working on a way to 'take the country out of Salem'"

Managing Editor's Notebook

Cassius Clay is coming to Kingston at the end of this month and this type of thing can only be viewed with mixed feelings. There certainly will be much gnashing of teeth and rolling of eyes over such an appearance, just as there will be vehement defenses for such a controversial personality to be allowed to talk here.

Muhammad Ali, as we all know he prefers to be called since joining the Muslim sect a few years back, has always been the focal point of both excitement and turmoil since he first arrived on the boxing scene out of Louisville and through the Olympics and on to the heavyweight championship. He was good as a boxer, even better as a talker, and now as a convicted draft-dodger out on appeal, he probably has almost as much crowd adulation as he always had.

But what about coming to Kingston? He was invited here by the Student Government Organization of Ulster County Community College and will talk at Kingston High, on Feb. 25. His subject—"The Future of Blacks in America—".

And now the rhubarb should start. We expect that in the next few weeks there will be rather rabid talk at cocktail parties, organization meetings and get-togethers deplored the invitation to a draft-dodger to speak to our citizenry. There might even be editorials in the air.

But from where we sit we don't know if it's exactly deplorable that a controversial character is given any number of chances to speak his point of view.

He probably will be disagreed with by the majority of listeners and that is one point we'd like to make—namely, that the institutions and codes of this country are strong enough to weather dissidence. Clay, after all, is entitled to whatever opinions he possesses . . . whether we think they're cockeyed or not.

But what we fear in the weeks ahead is some sort of concentrated effort to cancel out his appearance here . . . sort of small-city witch hunt cloaked in the righteousness of good Americanism which will lead to suppression and result in further divisiveness.

It would only serve to blow that man all out of proportion and add to his anti-hero status with the disenchanted. Let's play it cool, listen to the man, and then make our judgments.

And as long as we're dispensing advice, perhaps there's a little left over for Mr. Clay. The Future of Blacks in America is the topic. Well, wouldn't that future have been a little bit brighter and the present a little bit easier if the black heavyweight champion of the world had taken that one small step forward at the induction center?

State Commission Gives Views on Student Unrest

Report on 'The Academy in Turmoil'

By CLAY F. RICHARDS

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —The Temporary State Commission on Campus Unrest today recommended a lower voting age and lesser penalties for marijuana use as methods of reducing violence on the campus.

In its first report, entitled "The Academy in Turmoil," the commission said "student activism has become as much a part of the 1960's as color TV and the American Football League."

After a seven month, $100,000 study the commission came up with a wide range of recommendations to students, faculty, administrators, lawmakers and the public.

Significantly, no further legislation was proposed to crack down on campus demonstrators.

"Recent experience indicates that college and university authorities are becoming more alert and responsive in their handling of potential unrest," the commission said. "They should now be given reasonable time in which to deal further with their complex and unique problem without legislative intervention."

The report said that there was "no question that youthful attacks on our society and campus unrest will diminish if the nation's priorities can be reordered."

"This means that the war in Vietnam be brought to an end as soon as possible," the commission said. "Furthermore, a national commitment to eradicate the problems of poverty, urban disintegration, environmental pollution and institutional racism will more nearly satisfy many youthful ideologies."

"In essence, and to paraphrase a student ideal, the performance of America must be equated with the promise of America," the nine-member body said.

The report said serious disorders hit 13 per cent of the campuses in New York State last year. Usually only 5 per cent of the students on any one campus were involved. They said the number of "diehard militants" is less than 1 per cent of the students. There was no strong evidence of "outside agitators" playing a major role in campus unrest.

Major recommendations included: — Lowering the voting age to give more young people a voice in the operation of society.

— A "crash program" to determine "whether or not marijuana is harmful" and in the meantime a reduction for penalties for use and possession of the drug.

— That students "reject violence as a means of problem solving" and work with all elements of the community "to achieve your goals."

— Police receive more specialized training to cope with demonstrations.

— That college faculties include students on curriculum development committees.

— "All post-secondary educational institutions should rid themselves of the image of a medieval sanctuary," the report said.

The commission, headed by Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson, R-Hornell, spent much of its report analyzing student unrest in New York State during the last year.

The group said its tentative conclusion was that unrest results "from a buildup of tensions and frustrations shared by students who react to them by seeking support from other students and sometimes faculty, rather than from outside militants."

As real or imagined grievances build up, normal channels of communications break down, the report said. The "hard core" then take some dramatic action to attract support, which hardens positions on both sides, the commission concluded.

Dramatic action follows, to which the administration must react.

In dealing with unrest, the commission found that the administration which went to court to obtain injunctions against students occupying a building met more success than those who used police to clear the building.

Students usually obey a legal court order, but resist police action, the commission observed in their case studies.

"There is no single piece of legislation, no one program, prescription, nor any single appeal to the people which can provide an effective solution to the problems of all institutions," the commission concluded.

College Leader Sees Militants in Decline

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns of the University of California's Berkeley complex, who has had his share of campus confrontations, says the student militants across the land seem to be running out of steam.

A long series of disorders at Berkeley reached a climax last May in a row over the use of university land as a "People's Park." It left one dead, one blinded and hundreds injured, tear-gassed or in jail.

"A lot of people have been waiting for the other shoe to drop here," Heyns said Monday in an interview. "Even if it does, it won't be a very big shoe."

"Combat fatigue is certainly part of the theory to explain this peace, but there is also a general sense that the tactics of confrontation are counter-productive, and that positive things have happened with lots of people working very hard and constructively."

"There is keen awareness that student disruption does invite external intervention which has corrosive effects."

Heyns added that the radical left student movement was weakened by splits in its ranks.

"I think students are growing more sophisticated and that the university administration is more sensitive to students," he said.

Heyns denied that he plans to resign, a persistent rumor since he left on a recent three-month leave. Heyns, 52, took his present post four years ago after serving as vice president at the University of Michigan.

Heyns said university presidencies across the nation are vacant because of growing pressures from 14th the conservatives and radicals.

"There is a constant need for the university administrator to define the middle position. The threats to inquiry are real and the decision the administrator makes will not always be popular," he said.

Heyns said he was optimistic, however, about the future of higher education.

"The Congress, the legislatures and President Nixon have all indicated a willingness to let the institutions solve their own problems," he said.

Heyns said Berkeley faculty morale was higher now and "through all of the disruptions during the past five years we have gone on with achievements in the continuance of instructions." He added:

"The Berkeley campus had to turn away 2,700 students this quarter and a nice irony was that I received telephone calls from legislators asking help in entering their nieces, nephews and children. These are the same legislators who said they would never send their children to Berkeley."

Raise Prices

ATHENS (UPI) — Greece's largest newspapers raised their prices a cent and a half Sunday because of a government decision imposing heavier import duties on newsprint. Acropolis, Athens' largest newspaper, indicated it would appeal the decision to the Supreme Court. Most large Athens papers hiked their prices from 6 to 7½ cents.

Government spending on public works is based on the census.

One thing the Census Forms tell us is how many cars there are. Cars need roads. Just as the people need schools, housing, and hospitals. Otherwise, we're all dressed up with no place to go.

So, when you receive your Census Form in the mail, just remember the last traffic jam you were in. That alone should be enough to make you fill out your Census Form. It takes a few minutes, but can save you hours and hours in the years to come.

...This Circus

this moment I and Leonard Weinglass are the most privileged. We are being jailed for what we believe in."

Several spectators applauded and the judge ordered them removed, declaring "This circus has to end sometime!" The judge characterized as "reprehensible conduct," the actions of the lawyers for the seven men charged with conspiracy to incite rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

He stayed execution of the lawyers' sentences to May 4 to allow them to perform legal duties for their clients, being held in the federal tier of Cook County Jail during the jury deliberations.

If convicted of conspiracy, each man faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine. The judge denied motions to free the seven on bond pending appeal of the contempt charges.

Weinglass told newsmen Sunday night that he was optimistic because the jury had not reached a quick verdict.

"I was very pessimistic at the beginning of the trial but I think that now that the jury has been out some time there is a reasonable likelihood of an acquittal or a hung jury," he said.

The jury was locked up shortly after noon Saturday and the judge promptly began his contempt citations.

Penalties for each count ranged from one day for such offenses as failing to rise when the judge entered the court, or Abbie Hoffman's blowing a kiss to the jury, to six months for direct violations of the judge's orders.

Youth Jailed On Guilty Plea

ELLENVILLE. A 20-year-old youth was arrested Sunday night, charged with unlawful use of a motor vehicle, after police received a complaint that someone had taken a truck from a parking area at the rear of 19 Canal Street.

Trooper C. R. Larson, who had been alerted by village police, picked up Bruce Wayne Dobell of 12 Chapel Street, this village, on Briggs Highway about an hour after the truck was reported missing.

Dobell was later arraigned before Police Justice Ronald Elias. The youth pleaded guilty and was remanded to the county jail pending sentencing on Feb. 24 at 7 p. m. The truck belonged to the Giovanniello Ice Company of Ellenville.

Three Arrested At Britts Store

KINGSTON. Security guards at Britts Department Store arrested three persons in two separate incidents Friday evening, and all cases were adjourned in city court Saturday until later dates.

Gregory Zitz, 17, of Red Hook was charged with petit larceny when he was allegedly caught with an 8-track stereo tape cartridge worth $6.95. He will appear again March 7.

Judith Houghtaling, 21, of 38 Hanratty Street and John Broadhead, 16, of 129 Hunter Street, both of Kingston, were charged with petit larceny and conspiracy respectively in the same incident. They were heard in city court Saturday, and the case adjourned until Feb. 18. They allegedly took more than $43 in merchandise.

Four Accused Of Stealing Beer

COXSACKIE

Accused of stealing four cases of beer from a parked truck in this Greene County community, four young men were arrested Sunday by Troopers Joseph J. Syvertsen and W. P. Fitzmaurice of the Leeds State Police on charges of petit larceny.

Booked were Norman Dixon Jr., 20; Frederick Lowery, 19, and Angelo Campoli, 18, all of this village and Roger Rice, 22, of Hannacrois.

Arraigned before Police Justice Jerome Misuraca, the four were permitted to plead guilty to reduced charges of disorderly conduct. Each was fined $10 and ordered to make restitution.

PWP Chapter Has Busy Week

KINGSTON

This week shapes up as one of the busiest for the Kingston Chapter of Parents Without Partners.

A committee planning meeting is set for Wednesday night at the Stockade Restaurant at 8 o'clock.

The Friday night coffee and conversation meeting will be held at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue at 8.

On Saturday, Feb. 21, the chapter will hold two events — a bowling party at Sangi's, Cedar Street, at 1:30 and the first anniversary dinner that night at 8 o'clock at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W.

Information about PWP may be obtained by writing CPO Box 343, Kingston.

A Kingston Trust Checking Account.

As a full service bank, we have all the normal checking account advantages and then a few.

But during the present tight money problem, a Kingston Trust account gives you one other advantage you may not find elsewhere. Security.

At Kingston Trust, our guiding principle during this period is the same as it's been for 133 years: to take care of our own. That is, the communities we serve, and the people who bank with us regularly.

Since you never know when you're going to need a business or personal loan, this just might prove a lifesaver.

We can arrange a regular or special account—whichever is best for you.

During times like these, isn't it nice to have a bank you can trust?

No wonder people trust Kingston Trust. KINGSTON TRUST

Headstart in Woodstock

WOODSTOCK ages 3-5 years. This program will be provided as a community service primarily for children of working mothers and children who do not have as many advantages as others to prepare them adequately for school.

A maximum of 15 children can be accepted under this Head Start program. Transportation will be provided within the general limits of West Hurley, Morgan Hill, Glenford, Shokan, Woodstock, Bearsville and Wittenberg. The time will be from 3 a.m. to 4 p.m. with lunch and snacks served. The program will operate five days a week, closing on school holidays but continuing through the summer. Those who would like to know if their child qualifies should contact Michael Boyle evenings, the Rev. William Rogers or Mrs. Hiland Newkirk.

Recital and Art Sale To Benefit Philharmonic

Library Board Names Officers; List New Books

WOODSTOCK Misty Bernard was recently named president of the executive committee of the Woodstock Library Board of Trustees.

Other officers are Sylvia Grad, vice president; Arthur Hansen, treasurer; Inga Langham, secretary; Verner May, finance chairman; Mari Bollman, Book Committee; Francis Rodgers, historian and Jane Keefe, administrative chairman.

A benefit project for Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society will embrace a chamber recital and an art sale on Sunday, Feb. 22 at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church Hall.

The art sale will include prints and drawings from 2 to 6 p.m. The chamber recital will start at 4 p.m. in the church.

Eleanor Diemer, Melissa Sweet and Beatrice Bright will play two interesting works written for cello, flute and harpsichord by C.P.E. Bach and Vivaldi. The balance of the program will be varied works for combinations of cello, flute and piano.

Jane Axel, Lucille Blanch, Brock Brockenshaw, John Ernst, William Gambini, Lee Downer, Maya Jackson, Jean Wrolsen, Stefan Lokos, Samuel Prager, Woody Ballard, Ann Roberts, Dan Gottschalk and other Woodstock artists have contributed their prints and drawings to help in the fund raising event.

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic needs support in order to continue providing this area with its cultural benefit. Recital tickets are now on sale with the ticket price being deductible from the fixed price of $20 for a print or drawing at the art sale.

Woodstock Vols Annual Dinner Slated Feb. 28

WOODSTOCK The annual dinner of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 will be held Saturday, Feb. 28 at Odd Fellows Hall, Bearsville at 6:30 p.m.

Members of the four companies in the district who wish to attend my contact Joseph Raymond or Ernest Koehn.

The announcement was made at a recent meeting of the Woodstock volunteers.

Chief Duncan Wilson reported the department responded to five calls in January. He also advised that the state fire school on pump operation is under way. The eight-week course will be held on Tuesdays at Company No. 1 firehouse.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened firm today in moderately active trading. Although the market squeezed out a small gain last week, concern over lower corporate profits and tight money conditions continued to dominate investor psychology. And most analysts believed stocks would continue to trend in a narrow, cautious fashion until there is definite proof of an easing in monetary restraint.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator was up 0.30 per cent on 342 issues crossing the tape. Advances topped declines, 165 to 88.

INA Corp. traded an opening block of 20,000 shares at 32 1/2, unchanged, while McDonnell-Douglas was also unchanged at 20 1/4 on a block of 10,000 shares. Boeing was steady at 20 on a 19,000-share block.

Minnesota Mining, trading ex-dividend, spurred 1 1/2 to 104 1/2, with Avon Products up 1 1/2 to 17 1/2, and Merck 1 1/2 higher to 111.

Among the electronics, Control Data rose 1 to 67 1/2, General Electric 1/2 to 69 1/2, and Westinghouse 1/2 to 60 1/2. RCA dipped 1/2 to 29 1/2. University Computing was unchanged at 6 1/2, as was IBM at 349. Motorola gained 1/2 to 12 1/2 and Burroughs held unchanged at 154 1/2.

The Danbury Probe -- New Theories No Clues

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — An investigation into how a team of bank robbers set off three bombs in Danbury and made off with $40,000 last Friday went into its fourth day today, with new theories proliferating over the weekend—but no reports of solid new clues.

Police said late Saturday that there may have been three bank robbers, not just two, as had been thought at first.

Then, too, police speculated, the blasts may have been related to a Nov. 13 bank holdup in Union, Mo. In both cases, the first bomb exploded at the local headquarters agents.

There were also reports that FBI agents were looking into the possibility that the Danbury bombers had conducted the robbery of a Wilmington, Del., bank of $100,000 two weeks ago.

Whatever the robbers' history, a New York City psychiatrist described them as "died in the wool, trained, experienced criminals," and said "I would expect at least one to have some high school education."

But a top state police investigator offered the opinion that the Danbury desperadoes are not "professional criminals." Their disregard for life, according to state police Major Thomas O'Brien, is too great to consider them pros.

The robbers whisked through Danbury in 20 minutes Friday, injuring 22 persons with bombs they placed in the police station, in the Union Savings Bank and in their first getaway car in a shopping mall parking lot.

The robbery took place as the bomb in the police station blew up—taking with it an alarm system that might have alerted police to the robbery. Then, three minutes later, the robbers fled the bank with their loot, emptied the main room and set off another bomb there—heavily damaging the bank.

The third bomb blew up a car apparently used in their getaway, as they switched to another car and sped out of town.

Police headquarters was damaged so badly that 80 law enforcement officials, including 35 federal agents, descending on a conference Saturday still had to use temporary police headquarters set up in a War memorial building that contains Civil Defense equipment.

The theory that three men were involved rests on the close timing of the explosions. One official report said all three bombs were homemade black powder devices with timers, but another report said police had no evidence that a timer was used on the first bomb—the crucial one that severed communications with police.

In other words, some police speculated, a third man might have been needed to set off the first bomb while his two heavily armed cohorts robbed the bank.

Man Arrested On Harassment

CATSKILL

Paul Lewis, 20, of New Baltimore, was arrested Sunday by Trooper N. J. Pazin, who assisted deputy sheriffs from Albany County who had a warrant charging the youth with aggravated harassment.

Lewis pleaded guilty before Town Justice Frank Liebhaber of Westerlo and received a conditional discharge. A provision of the sentence is that Lewis shall not make any more annoying telephone calls to area residents.

No Boredom for Connie Fitte

Art Flourishes at Rhinebeck Hospital

Perhaps one of the worst fears of those facing hospitalization is the threat of boredom, especially for young people. One young patient at Northern Dutchess Hospital has successfully coped with that problem.

Seventeen-year-old Connie Fitte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fitte and a senior at Roosevelt High School, Hyde Park, found herself hospitalized around Christmas last year and with time on her hands. A friend suggested that she try her hand at decorating glass apothecary jars. Connie is a fine arts major and the idea suited her to a "T."

Connie brought one of the jars she had done at Christmas with her when she reentered the hospital recently.

"One of the nurses asked if I could do another one like it for her and it just went from there," she explained.

"From there" means sales of $24 to date with orders pending. Connie, who hopes to attend Dutchess Community College in the fall as a commercial arts major, is planning to use the money, not to buy more paint or apothecary jars, but to purchase a new saddle for her own horse, but I'm not an expert rider. I just ride for pleasure," she said. "I broke in my

Business has flourished so much for Connie that she may not have much time left for riding. She is beginning to keep a permanent record of her original designs and a ledger book to keep track of her growing profits.

And as for boredom, Connie is much too busy to think about that!

Using various sized jars, model enamel paints and original designs, Connie creates colorful "catch-alls" to suit anyone's taste. She has decorated jars with flowers and animals and several with the comical "Peanuts" characters. If Connie can sketch it, she can paint it on glass.

"Some of the designs are in my head, but I can copy almost anything or create a pattern from a specific description," she said.

Connie sketches the pattern first, outlines it in black and tapes the design to the inside of the jar. The painting is done on the outside, staying within the lines of the sketch. The pattern is removed, details and shadings added and the hand-painted piece is finished.

Smokers May Kick Habit In Local Five-Day Plan

KINGSTON Smokers who want to kick the habit will have their chance next week under a special five-day plan to be conducted in Kingston by a physician-clergyman team.

The plan consists of regular evening group sessions and a daily personal control program for home or work. It has had a successful three-year trial run in most major cities of the U.S. and Canada and has been featured in Time, Newsweek, Pageant and many of the nation's leading newspapers.

Conducting the program locally will be Dr. George Wootan, 185 Clinton Avenue, and Rev. Dan W. Schiffbauer, of Catskill Region

the Kingston Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Group therapy sessions will be held at 7:30 p.m. each day beginning Sunday, Feb. 22, at Kingston Savings Bank, Bonanza Branch, Route 9W. All meetings except Monday night, Feb. 23, will be held at Kingston Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, 267 Wall Street.

Sponsored by the Kingston Seventh-Day Adventist Church, in cooperation with the Ulster County Interagency Council on the Hazards of Smoking, consisting of the American Cancer Society, Ulster County Unit, Mid-Hudson Heart Association, and R. D. Association, the five-day plan is a public service to help improve the health of the community and to contribute to the national physical fitness program, Schiffbauer explains.

The five-day plan to stop smoking features such topics as psychological and physical aspects of the habit, how desire to smoke can be lessened, how will-power can be strengthened, physical effects of smoking, organizations of buddy system and many other techniques designed to break the habit within a five-day period.

A feature will be the film "Countdown" depicting in full color a lung cancer operation, to be shown, Sunday night, the first evening of the session.

Developed under the sponsorship of the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination, the plan was originated by Dr. J. Wayne McFarland and Elman J. Folkenberg, clergyman, of South Lancaster, Mass.

Further information is available through the Rev. Mr. Schiffbauer.

Changes in City Bus Routes

KINGSTON Public Service Commission approved the transfer of the city lines from her company to the Eagle Bus Line of Ellenville last week.

She said that five days notice would be given before any changes are made.

Mrs. Julius Lipton, owner of Lipton's Bee Line said today that changes in the bus routes in the city would be announced later this week.

Mrs. Lipton said that the

Christensen-Carroll Nuptials

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Helen Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Christensen of 9 Millers Lane, Kingston, and Kevin Michael Carroll of Croton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Carroll of Wynnewood, Pa., on Saturday, Feb. 7.

The Rev. Alfred Pizzuto officiated at the double ring ceremony and bestowed the Papal Blessing. James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line, floor-length gown of ivory peau de soie, fashioned with an empire bodice of English net and Alencon lace with seed pearls and aurora sequins. The gown featured a scalloped neckline and long traditional sleeves. Appliques of matching lace highlighted the skirt and added detail to the circular chapel length train. She wore a Juliet cap with fingertip two-tiered veil of silk illusion net and carried a colonial bouquet of ivory roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Karen A. Christensen,

sister of the bride, Boston, Mass., was maid of honor in an A-line gown styled with an emerald green velvet bodice and a skirt of blue green moire. Her headpiece was a blue-green moire bow and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and Talisman roses.

Attendants were Miss Anne McNamee, Hempstead, L. I., Miss Patricia Christensen, Latham, both cousins of the bride; Miss Anne Marie Smith, New Jersey, a former classmate of the bride. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendants and they carried similar bouquets.

Dennis P. Carroll, brother of the bridegroom, Wynnewood, Pa., served as best man. Ushers were Terrence J. Carroll, brother of the bridegroom, Wynnewood, Pa.; Joseph F. Grant, Winchester, Mass.; and Leo Schenone, Binghamton.

A reception for 75 guests was held at Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica, the bride wore a royal blue dress and coat ensemble, featuring cream trim. She wore gray patent leather accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and the College of St. Rose where she was awarded a BA degree in History and Political Science. She is employed by Continental Insurance Company, New York City.

Her husband, a 1965 alumnus of Croton High School and a 1969 graduate of Siena College, earned his BS degree in Finance and was enrolled in a ROTC Program, and commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Army. He is employed as an assistant accountant by Realty Hotels in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will reside at Croton.

PAW Play Reading Unit Tuesday

Woodstock playwright Holly Beyne will lead the play reading unit of Woodstock's Performing Arts Group in a reading of young British Playwright Ann Jellicoe's "Shelley Or the Idealist." Tuesday evening, at Fellowship Hall of the Lutheran Church in Woodstock, at 8:30. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

The play is a biographical account of the last 11 years of the poet's life and illuminates the conflict between the Utopian ideals by which he was determined to live, and the disastrous results of his blindness to the effects of these ideals on those he loved most.

The author, Ann Jellicoe, is best known for her phenomenally successful play, "The Knack," which was later made into a movie. She describes "Shelley" as a tragedy-comedy and says about it: "... his life illustrates certain problems of goodness which are so much more interesting than those of evil ... Shelley's life ... involves the problems of the creative artist rejected by his time ... the position of women, of the teacher who projects his own standards on his pupils and is disturbed when they don't live up to his image."

The play is being considered for presentation later on this season by Performing Arts.

BEER HAIR SET

Stale beer is a good solution for setting hair since it gives the hair "Body." Just dampen the hair and roll. The hair will not retain the beer odor when dry. Another hair trick is to fill a spray bottle with water and spray your hair as you pin it up.

Gonzales-Switz Vows Taken

Miss Ximena T. Gonzales, step-daughter and daughter, respectively of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Wall of 188 Salem Street, Port Ewen, exchanged nuptial vows with Gordon A. Switz of Lomontville, son of Mrs. James R. Dunbar and the late Robert Gordon Switz, Saturday, Feb. 7 at Presentation Church of Port Ewen.

The Rev. James Cannon officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Robert J. Corcoran, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. White carnations decorated the family pews.

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown with lace flower appliques, long sleeves and wide cuffs. Her floor length French veil was accented with lace flower appliques and attached to an organza bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations, green foliage, accented with a touch of pink.

Marcela Crespo of New York City was honor attendant. She wore a floor length, pink, sleeveless organza gown, fashioned with an organza yoke, high lace neckline, and accented with grass-green ribbon belt at the waistline. She carried a colonial style bouquet of dark pink and white pompons.

Alexandra M. Wall was a flower girl for her sister in a short white lace gown, styled with a full skirt, pink sash with large bow in back. A pink organza bow served as her headpiece and she carried a small pink bouquet of pompons.

Edward Robinson of Kerhonkson was best man. Ushers were Melvyn Tapper of Accord and Ricardo Peduzzi of Oneonta.

A reception for 70 guests was held at Hudson Overlook Inn, West Park.

For her wedding trip, the bride selected a navy blue vest and skirt with matching demi-fitted navy blue coat, a light blue Edwardian blouse and navy accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Santiago College, a high school in Santiago, Chile, S. A., accredited to the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges of the U.S. and was graduated from the School of Economics of University of Chile. She worked as assistant to Dr. Jorge Marshall on a research project with Inter American Development Bank in Chile which was entitled "International Finance in Latin America."

Her husband, an alumnus of Rondout Valley High School, is a senior at State University of New York at Oneonta where he is a candidate for a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology.

Mr. and Mrs. Switz will reside at Oneonta.

Second Annual Freeman Fashion Show March 3rd!

BY DOROTHY A. NAREL
WOMAN'S PAGE EDITOR

The Woman's Dept. of the Daily Freeman has announced today that its 1970 Fashion Preview will be given on Tuesday, March 3 in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. All proceeds will be for the benefit of the Ulster County Community Chest.

This will be the Freeman's second annual fashion show. It will be complete with the latest in spring and summer fashions, music by Pétre Ferraro and his ensemble, refreshments and gifts.

This year's fashion show will be presented in the evening with showtime starting at 7:30. The change to the evening time will enable many more women to attend.

Fashions will be shown through the courtesy of Ulster County leading stores. They will include those for children, pre-teen, junior miss, petite, regular and half size. Fashion commentator will be Dorothy A. Narel, women's page editor.

Tickets Available

Tickets to the benefit show are available and will be sold on a "first come, first served" basis. Seating is limited in the Crystal Room so early reservations should be made by using the coupon printed in today's Freeman on Page 10 or by calling Diane Norton in the Freeman office.

This year's show will have several unique ideas incorporated into it. Its theme will range from the baby's christening outfit (a live baby?) to that all important wedding day. Peter Rabbit will make an appearance with several of the tots in their Easter finery and Grandma will be reminded of yesterday's fashions when models parade in some of the finest styles of the 1890's through the Flapper era.

Gifts, Gifts

Extra attention has even been paid to this year's fine selection of gifts to be awarded during the show. Some of these items will include an Oneida Revere bowl; a $45 cosmetic case complete with cosmetics; a bottle of Balmains' Jolie Madame perfume; a gift from Faberge in New York; first aid auto kits; bill folds; flight bags; cookbooks and other items.

Some of this county's best known models will be seen in the show as well as the Freeman's three Valentine Queens. Our current queen, Bonnie Barringer will be modeling her outfit won from Jonathan Logan's in New York.

Those who plan on attending the show this year will discover that fashions are fun. They are pretty, outrageous, wild, conservative. Dresses are made of leather, plastic, suede as well as wool, silk and cotton.

There is bound to be a great variety of styles because the designers have introduced tremendous varieties. This season, skirts in Paris were down to the floor, around the calf and ankle or just below the knees.

Women will be able to switch their personalities easily. They can be refined, ladylike, restrained, grown-up, girly, dolly, sexy, provocative, uninhibited or just themselves.

It would appear, in face of current fashion trends, that designers are finally agreeing that women come in all sizes and shapes and they need a wide variety of fashion choices in order to be satisfied.

According to Rosette Hargrove of NEA, there isn't a definite or defined 1970 silhouette for which, a woman thinks despairingly, she will have to throw out everything she owns to be in the running.

The only strong, successful trend, says Miss Hargrove, is the longer skirt. And the fact that sleeves, long or short, are in.

The 18-year olds with beautiful legs will certainly stick to the mini another season. Pants suits are still very much in vogue showing up now at balls and other formal.

The fashion world being what it is today, you can be sure of having a most enjoyable time at this year's 1970 Fashion Preview.

Complete details of the show will be announced.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Folks:

The battle of the bottles — and those "made-too-good" sticky labels — has been solved.

Beautiful wine bottles, sweetening bottles, jelly glasses, can have their labels removed easily if you just follow my addrept advice.

I was thinking the other day that if I filled that beautiful bottle with scalding water from my teakettle and set it aside for a while, maybe that dog-gone label would come off without breaking a finernail or ruining my good paring knife.

It did just that! Within two or three minutes, I gently put my finernail under the corner of the label and slowly peeled the whole kit and caboodle off!

For the remaining goop, glop and minute amount of stuff left, just grab your old steel wool pad and rub a few times while the warm water is still in the bottle.

It will really gleam.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For some time now I have been making psychodelic cake frosting. Here is all I do: I splash drops of each of the four colors of food coloring directly on the frosting of the cake, then take a knife or spatula and swirl it all together. Be careful not to swirl it too much, or you will blend the colors more than they should be blended and thus will ruin the effect. Top it off, if you have them, with those multi-colored, candy cake toppings, and you have an edible painting! This works equally well with white frosting, or with any of the pastel-colored, flavored frostings.

It's fun to do!

UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE

February is traditionally a month of furniture sales. So let's take a look at fillings for upholstered furniture, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. By law the filling materials used in upholstered furniture must be labeled and the label attached to the furniture. Look for this information on the cover of the seat platform and on each cushion.

Three types of filling are currently popular, but others are also available. Urethane foam is the least expensive of these and one of the most commonly found. Different grades are manufactured so check the resiliency and compare it with other cushions in the store. Poorest grades have been known to yellow and harden in a short time.

Polyfoam (or poly dac as some salesman say) is a combination of urethane foam and polyester (often Dacron polyester). The foam is wrapped with white polyester fibers to result in a comfortable cushion that holds its shape well. Polyfoam is softer than urethane alone. It is also more expensive. One manufacturer charges about $40 more for a 90" sofa with six loose polyfoam cushions than for the same sofa with urethane cushions.

Polyester alone makes a very soft cushion with good return to shape. It is also costly. A sofa with 6 loose cushions (depending on manufacturer and sofa length) might run from $55 to $80 more if polyester cushions are selected instead of urethane foam. For a firm sofa bed the extra softness may be worth the added expenditure; for a sofa with coiled springs, the soft cushions may prove unnecessary.

Latex foam is also available, but it has been largely replaced by lower costing urethane foam. Down and feathers are rarely found in cushions and then only in very expensive furniture.

For further help in buying furniture ask for these leaflets. No. 2 "When You Buy a Lounge Chair" and No. 43 "Furniture Selection." Write to Ulster County Home Economics Division, 74 John St., U.P.O. Box 545, Kingston, N.Y. 12401 or call 338-3494.

Farmingdale Hands UCCC Third Defeat

By JIM MASSA

FARMINGDALE — Some might say it was the "jinx" Farmingdale has had over Ulster County Community College basketball teams. Some might even speculate the Aggies have a better team. And some might even say Ulster went into Saturday's game taking the Aggies too lightly.

Regardless of what anybody said or says, this fact remains: The Aggies of Farmingdale kept their regional playoff hopes alive by downing Ulster's newly crowned Mid Hudson Conference champions, 82-80, for a well-deserved win before 300 spectators.

It was still anybody's game with four minutes left to play. The score was tied 74-74 on a Linell Marshall free throw. Marshall missed his second try and Tony Pough, who sat out 12 minutes of the second half with four personals, came back in the game to replace Larry Trippodo.

Clarence Brown, who was fouled by Trippodo, had a 1-and-1, sank both to give Farmingdale a 76-74 lead at the 3:23 mark. Pough hit with the equalizer 76-76 at 3:03. Larry Gallaway sent the Aggies back in front, 78-76, with a jumper from 18 feet out. Pough hit Marshall underneath for a layup and it was tied again, 78-78, with 2:30 left.

Tied at 80 All

Bill Baltimore, who made only two field goals all night put the Aggies on top 80-78 with 2:15 to go. Pough again tied it at 80-80 with a 10-footer at 1:50. Gallaway then took a rebound off his offensive board and pushed it through the hoop for what proved to be the winning shot, 82-80 with 1:35 left to play.

Pough had a chance to tie it for the Senators on a 1-and-1 foul situation, but he missed the first attempt and the Aggies grabbed the rebound. With 1:12 remaining, the Aggies moved into a freeze. Moving the ball in and out with great poise, the Aggies stalled until Jerry Moss fouled Gallaway to stop the clock and the freeze.

Gallaway converted the first to make it 82-80, with 30 seconds left. He missed the second and Ulster had the ball, but Gallaway intercepted a Senator pass and was fouled by Ray Lindhorst, who left the game with his fifth personal. Gallaway missed from the foul line. Tony Pough grabbed the ball and fired a three-quarter court shot that hit the rim and bounced off at the final buzzer.

"We weren't up for the game after beating Westchester last night," said Coach Mike Perry. "They were up and fighting to stay alive in the regionals. Moss is still in a slump and the whole team was sluggish."

"The boys did a bangup job on Moss," said Coach George Matoli of Farmingdale. "We knew we had to win this one, if we were to have a shot at an invitation for the regional tournament."

"Tim Quinn is the most underrated guard in the region and has been the backbone of the club," Matoli added.

Quinn led the Aggies with 22 points, but missed the exciting final four minutes, as he left with five personals. Gallaway added 21 for Farmingdale. Marshall, with his second fine effort in a row, led UCCC with 23.

After trailing most of the first half which ended in favor of Farmingdale 48-43, the Senators looked like themselves for the first ten and a half minutes of the second half. It took the Aggies exactly eight minutes to hit a field goal. Meanwhile, Ulster ran off a 14-4 spurt to take a 61-54 lead.

Berry Fouls Out

With Ulster leading 65-57 and 9:30 left to play, Berry was tagged with a fifth personal foul and this was a bad blow to the UCCC hopes. However, the call actually wasn't on Berry, because he wasn't even in the play. The official was blocked out of the play and by the time he got around the players after he blew the whistle, Berry was the only one near him. So Glenn was tagged with someone else's foul. From that point on the Senators went downhill.

SIDE BARS: We believe that the biggest reason for losses at Farmingdale and West Point Plebes was poor scheduling on the part of the Senators. When you play teams like Queensborough and Westchester one night, you don't schedule games for the next afternoon. Not unless you want to go into the game with a tired club and get beat. So far as this reporter is concerned, that's exactly what happened to UCCC.

In our humble opinion, Ulster is at least 20 points better than West Point and Farmingdale when the club is rested. Ulster now has a 19-3 record and the defeat was the first in Region XV competition this season.

Ulster made only 9 of 19 free throw attempts in the second half and only 20 of 36 all night. Farmingdale, meanwhile was 25 for 33. UCCC hit 30 of 61 field goal attempts for 49 percent. The Aggies were 29 of 72 for 40 percent. Farmingdale had the edge in rebounds, 49-42, even though they were a smaller club. Ulster had 20 turnovers to 12 for the Aggies.

When you don't get hustle from Moss for at least 15 minutes of a ball game, you know something must be wrong. The jinx we speak about is the fact that Ulster has lost five straight games on the Aggie court, four to Farmingdale and one to Suffolk.

The score:

Brockport Topples State Hawks, 94-43

BROCKPORT — New Paltz State University's basketball team took a 94-43 shellacking from Brockport State Saturday night, and things don't look any brighter tonight as they travel to Philadelphia to take on Philadelphia Textile. Philadelphia is only ranked 20th in the nation and recently lost to Villanova by only 4 points.

The win gave Brockport sole possession of first place in the SUNYAC with a 7-1 record, while they boast a 15-2 overall mark. New Paltz has a 0-9 SUNYAC record and 3-17 overall mark.

Brockport had six members in double figures with John and Bob Freer who missed the Foster leading the pack with 18 points. Sam Garafalo of the Hawks topped the scoring with 14 points and played a fine game for New Paltz. "Garafalo had to go against 6-8 and 6-7 centers and did what I call a fine job on them," said Coach Doug Sheppard.

Steve Dane who is out with an injury will not play tonight.

An Important Sports Item

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Tidcentric than the tournament," said one spectator, on hand to watch the North American Championships.

Some players, more conservatively dressed, had to contend with neckties that draped in front of them hindering play.

In the end, however, the Summerville Tiddlywinks Club of the Boston area emerged victorious defeating host Cornell 43-20 in the Sunday finals. The win marked the first time a club, not a college-affiliated team, has won the title.

For Mike Ferraro: Another IL Whirl

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON

It was more than a baseball contract that Mike Ferraro of Kingston signed the other day. It was a personal commitment to one more year of minor league baseball, with maybe a happy ending.

The International League All Star third baseman for the past two years, Ferraro returned the first two contracts sent to him by the Rochester Red Wings. The third he found acceptable.

"I got just about what I asked for and I'm happy with the terms," said Ferraro. "I'm looking forward to the opening of spring training at Daytona Beach on March 24."

Meanwhile, the Red Wings' general manager, Bob Turner, expressed the satisfaction of the Rochester front office, which was never sure Ferraro would go back this season.

Championship Prospects

"We're happy to have Mike back with us for another season," said Turner over the long distance telephone. "Mike did a good job for us last season and we think we have the makings of a championship team this year."

Ferraro batted .279 for Rochester in 1969, a late season slump dropping him from the .290 range. He still was voted the league's all-star third baseman, as he was with Syracuse in 1968 when he batted .293.

"I felt all along that I would return to Rochester, if the terms were right," said Ferraro.

raro. "There are several good prospects joining the club and we have a couple of big incentives going for us," he added.

"The first is the International League title and, secondly, the Little World Series with the American Association champions is being revived this year. That would mean extra money for all of us."

Three Top Prospects

All three top Red Wing prospects for 1970 mentioned by Ferraro will come up from the Baltimore farm team at Dallas in the Texas League. The trio includes shortstop Bob Grich, who batted .301; outfielder Don Baylor (.310) and Roger Freede, who batted .290 and slugged 28 home runs.

This is the year of decision for Ferraro, who has been in the minor leagues since 1964. When the parent Baltimore Orioles failed to take him off the Rochester roster last December, Ferraro reverted to minor league status for the first time since the 1966 season.

Two excellent spring training seasons and two all star designations in the International League (1968 and 1969) have failed to reward him with a legitimate shot at a major league berth.

Nobody realizes more than Mike Ferraro that time is running out in his major league aspirations.

"I'm going down to spring training just like I was starting all over again," he says. "If we win the International League championship and the Little World Series, something might happen. I'm giving myself one more chance."

Albany State Takes Siena Five, 72-63

ALBANY — Always steady Jack Adams, the smallest player on the floor at 5-9 made one of the biggest contributions Saturday night as State University at Albany registered an eased-up 72-63 basketball victory over rival Siena College.

With a record crowd of over 3,000 spectators looking on in the State gym, Adams pumped in a season-high 18 points and added his usual hustling floor game for the host Great Danes, who combined a deliberate offense with sticky defense to hand the Indians their 11th loss in 17 games this season. State has a 10-6 record.

Steve Sheehan sent the Great Danes out in front for keeps 6-5, and continued to build up a lead of 38-27 at halftime. Sheehan and Mike Hill kept all time scoring leader Bob Hermann to 11 points and Hermann didn't score from the field until only 2:56 remained in the game.

Mike Seymour led the Siena attack with 14 points and Andy Murphy added 9 points. Jack Jordan aided Adams in the State win with 16 points. State built up a 55-37 lead with 9:46 remaining in the game.

Mike Seymour led the Siena attack with 14 points and Andy Murphy added 9 points. Jack Jordan aided Adams in the State win with 16 points. State built up a 55-37 lead with 9:45 remaining in the game.

Siena shot only 53 per cent from the foul line as they missed 19 of 40 free throws. State hit on 28 of 58 field goal tries for a 48.3 per cent, while the Indians connected on 21 of 50 attempts for 42 per cent. Siena took the edge in rebounds 45-44.

Frazier Still Solid Favorite

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gospel singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York boxing circles said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported. "I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

"I'm not betting money so it makes no difference," says Ellis.

Durham predicts Frazier will win by a knockout but has not named a particular round.

"I don't predict," says Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundee, "but I won't be amazed if Jimmy knocks him out."

The fight is set for 10:30 p.m. EST, following a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout between Gregorio Peralta of Argentina and unbeaten George

Foreman, like Frazier an Olympic champion.

The fight will be seen in this country only on closed circuit television at 120 locations with more than 500,000 seats. New York and a 90-mile surrounding area will be blacked out, but the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4.

the radio broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

It also will be seen via satellite in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, South America, parts of Europe and parts of Asia.

Frazier, who won his piece of the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968, has won all 24 of his pro fights, 21 by knockout.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of the deceased Cassius Clay, has won 27, 12 by knockout, and lost five. All of his losses came when he was a middleweight.

He won the WBA crown by outpointing Quarry April 27, 1968, and his last fight was a successful 15-round defense against Floyd Patterson Sept. 14, 1968.

Frazier's fighting style resembles his singing style—he has cut a few records. He is a swarming two-fisted puncher who swarms over his opponent, constantly applying pressure. He's fond of saying, "I'll come out smoking."

But he can be hit, being decked by Mike Bruce in his second pro fight and twice by Oscar Bonavena. And although Ellis, who sings with his wife in churches, is primarily a boxer, he can hit and hurt. His best punch is a sneak right hand.

Ellis has only been knocked down once, by Rubin "Hurricane" Carter in 1964, and he contends that was a slip.

A referee and two judges, to be named at ringside, will score the fight under the round system. If the rounds are even, they will use a supplementary point system.

The regular rules of the New York State Athletic Commission will be in effect. They will use eight-ounce gloves. The mandatory eight-count will be used for all knockdowns and if a fighter is down three times in the same round, the fight will be stopped. If a fighter is down when the bell rings, the count will be continued until he is up or eight, except if it is the 15th round.

Spott, Benny Parsons and Iggy Katona of Willis, Mich., in a Dodge Daytona, were the big leaders. Katona was fully in command up until a blown tire put his car out with only three laps to go.

Spott blamed his engine troubles on ignition malfunction. "Iggy Katona was really in there for the winner's circle," Spott said, "and it was a shame to see that tire foul him up."

Leonard had a 7.4 record and 2.49 ERA in 54 innings for the American League champion.

Mottom, one of the club's pinch hitters, had a .303 average last season, Rettenmund .247 and May .242.

Spott's 189.377 mph qualifying speed was faster than those of the NASCAR Plymouth hotshots—Pete Hamilton and Richard Petty. In Sunday's race, Spott's speed was 142.086, slower than last year's record of 152.730 mph turned by Andy Hampton.

The pace was slowed considerably by five caution flags on 33 laps to mark two spins, a was second in a 1969 winged Dodge Daytona. A lap behind and third was Ron Grana of Farmington, Mich., in a 1969 Ford and Louis Wusterhausen of Austin, Tex., finished fourth in another Ford.

Frazier, who won his piece of the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968, has won all 24 of his pro fights, 21 by knockout.

Ellis, a former sparring partner of the deceased Cassius Clay, has won 27, 12 by knockout, and lost five. All of his losses came when he was a middleweight.

He won the WBA crown by outpointing Quarry April 27, 1968, and his last fight was a successful 15-round defense against Floyd Patterson Sept. 14, 1968.

Frazier's fighting style resembles his singing style—he has cut a few records. He is a swarming two-fisted puncher who swarms over his opponent, constantly applying pressure. He's fond of saying, "I'll come out smoking."

But he can be hit, being decked by Mike Bruce in his second pro fight and twice by Oscar Bonavena. And although Ellis, who sings with his wife in churches, is primarily a boxer, he can hit and hurt. His best punch is a sneak right hand.

Ellis has only been knocked down once, by Rubin "Hurricane" Carter in 1964, and he contends that was a slip.

A referee and two judges, to be named at ringside, will score the fight under the round system. If the rounds are even, they will use a supplementary point system.

The regular rules of the New York State Athletic Commission will be in effect. They will use eight-ounce gloves. The mandatory eight-count will be used for all knockdowns and if a fighter is down three times in the same round, the fight will be stopped. If a fighter is down when the bell rings, the count will be continued until he is up or eight, except if it is the 15th round.

Atlanta and Boston both broke records Sunday in the National Basketball Association — but Boston's were the wrong kind.

Lou Hudson scored 36 points to lead Atlanta to a record 146-125 victory over Boston. The 146 points, which included 46-of-64 free throw tries, were the most ever scored in Atlanta's Alexander Memorial Coliseum, and the 64 free throw attempts were a Hawk record.

The contest also featured 68 foul calls. The 36th charged to

Billy Kidd First Gold Medalist

AN ORIGINAL — Billy Kidd, 26, of Stowe, Vt., gets a jubilant ride on the shoulders of teammates at the Alpine Ski Championships Sunday in Val Gardena, Italy, after he became the first American skier in history to win a Gold Medal in combined competition, awarded for overall results in the slalom, giant slalom and downhill. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

VAL GARDENA, Italy (AP) — Billy Kidd surprised even himself in winning the combined title for the United States at the World Ski Championships, in what turned out to be his farewell performance as an amateur.

"I wouldn't have bet a single cent on my gold medal before coming here," he said Sunday. The Stowe, Vt., skier who tied for fifth in the downhill, gave the United States its first gold medal in the history of the World Championships and capped its best showing since the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck. Then he announced the race was his last as an amateur.

"I don't know yet whether I'll turn pro or go to work," he said after clinching the combined title with a 21.5 point total for an easy victory over Patrick Russell of France, who had 50.15.

Kidd was a favorite going into the final race because of his 15th place finish in the giant slalom and third place in the special slalom earlier in the week. It was the second medal for Kidd and the fourth for the U.S. team.

Kidd, wearing a back corset, negotiated the 26 gates in the downhill in 2 minutes, 25.52 seconds, less than one second slower than winner Bernhard Russi of Switzerland who was timed in 2:24.57. While the United States' finish here was a surprise, Kidd's announcement wasn't.

"Everyone knows I have been considering this decision for quite a while," he said. "It is only natural, as I am 26 and I have chronic back trouble. I had to race in the downhill with a corset. It did not bother me too much, but it has edged me out of amateur racing. I just needed another medal today to quit on the winning side."

"After my bronze in the slalom, I was counting on another medal in the downhill. But I used the wrong wax." Kidd's year with very few top placings. announcement came on the heels of Kiki Cutter's disclosure that she was planning to quit skiing, although she said she might change her mind.

Kiki's decision came at the end of a disappointing season. She had placed fourth in the over-all World Cup standings last year, but was only 16th this Kidd's teammates did not fare as well in the downhill. Rudd Pyles of Frisco, Colo., was 11th in 2:27.13; Bobby Cochran of Richmond, Vt., 26th in 2:29.90; and Mike Lafferty of Eugene, Ore., 31st in 2:30.58.

Russi, a 21-year-old industrial designer, gave Switzerland a surprising second gold medal.

Unheralded Karl Cordin of Austria was second in 2:34 and Malcolm Milne took third in 2:25.09 for Australia's first medal ever in the world championships.

France's total of 10 medals, which included Russel's silver in the combined, was only one short of its total in the Grenoble Olympics.

He and Murphy, who had matched 18-hole scores throughout the course of the tournament, 66 on the first day, followed by 68 and 72, each had a final 69 on the sunny, 7,200-yard, par-72 Tucson National Golf Club course for 275.

Charles Coody came in with a 68 for 277 and Bob Lunn took fourth with a 70 for 278. John Lotz, the second round leader, followed with a 72 for a 279, with Fred Marti and Frank Beard following at 280.

Coody, Lotz and Lunn all made runs at the leaders on the final day. But it was, essentially, a battle between the chubby Murphy and swarthy Trevino.

"It always feels good to win," he said.

Georgia Tech Makes Wreck of N. Carolina

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Oh, they're the Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech, damn . . ."

Yes, and while Georgia Tech was making a wreck of North Carolina, unflappable UCLA continued to waltz away with another college basketball game.

Georgia Tech engineered two major upsets over the weekend, taming fifth-ranked North Carolina State 89-77 and 10th-ranked North Carolina 104-95 on successive nights Friday and Saturday.

The top-ranked Bruins, meanwhile, slammed Washington 101-85 Saturday night for their 20th victory this season and 24th straight dating back to last year.

"This is a better UCLA club than the one in 1964," said Coach Tex Winter of Washington.

Winter referred to the year the Bruins beat Winter's Kansas State team en route to the NCAA championship.

"This team is better on the offensive boards than the one in 1965," Winter added. "It doesn't penetrate quite as well at the guards, and it's not as good on the press, but the shooting is outstanding."

Second-ranked South Carolina bounced back from last week's defeat by Davidson to stop Duke 82-65; No. 3 Kentucky spilled Florida 110-66; fourth-rated St. Bonaventure repulsed Providence 68-52; North Carolina State beat Clemson 102-84; No. 7 Jacksonville clouted New Orleans Loyola 96-75; No. 8 Penn topped Brown 90-75 and No. 9 Florida State squashed Tulane 112-77 in other Top Ten contests Saturday.

UCLA led by only 42-36 at halftime before Henry Bibby, who scored 21 points, and Steve Patterson, 18, started sniping from long range.

The Bruins ran off a 9-2 spurt against the Huskies at the outset of the second half to lock up the Pacific-8 contest.

Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech, who scored 27 Friday night, came back with 47 points Saturday to tie a Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum record set earlier this year by Louisiana State's Pete Maravich.

North Carolina's comeback try turned into a nightmare in the second half when the Tar Heels' Charlie Scott and Lee Dedmon fouled out with more than 10 minutes left.

The unranked Engineers thus strengthened their hopes of a post-season tournament bid with a 14-7 record.

John Roche, South Carolina's game-breaking guard, scored 34 points as the Gamecocks hoped to start another winning streak. Their defeat by Davidson cracked a string of 17.

Irrepressible Dan Issel pitched in 37 as Kentucky kept its lead in the Southeastern Conference and bruising Bob Lanier pocketed 25 in the St. Bonaventure victory.

Jacksonville managed to take New Orleans Loyola despite a sub-par performance by 7-2 Artis Gilmore. The friendly giant only managed 16 points, about 10 below his average.

Among the Second Ten, 12th-rated Marquette bounced DePaul 79-60; No. 14 Iowa blitzed Michigan State 103-77; No. 15 Houston squashed Miami, Fla., 118-98; Notre Dame, No. 16, downed Detroit 95-93 in overtime; No. 17 Western Kentucky ripped East Tennessee State 92-83; Washington State shocked No. 18 Southern Cal 66-63; No. 19 Columbia tripped Harvard 73-72 and 20th-ranked Georgia lost to Tennessee 57-55. Cite Nick Castiglione As the Best Sportsman

PORT EWEN — Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club tapped Nick Castiglione of Kingston as the 14th recipient of its coveted Best Sportsman Award at the club's 34th annual banquet Saturday at the Capri Restaurant.

Tom Johnson, news commentator and host of the Hudson Valley Sportsman Show on station WBAA in Kingston, presented the Hudson Valley Sportsman Award posthumously to Mrs. Ann Post in recognition of the many accomplishments in the field of sports and conservation by her late husband, Roland Post, who was president of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club when he died in June, 1969.

Johnson explained in his presentation that the award was prompted by the many letters and phone calls he had received regarding the many achievements that were credited to Mr. Post during his lifetime. The award is sponsored by Numrich Sports Center of West Hurley.

Club habitat chairman for 1969, Chester Joy, was awarded the club's Achievement Award Plaque. Charles Ruschak received the club's yearly humorous trophy. Ruschak's award was accepted by his wife because he was unable to attend the banquet. Other humorous awards were made to Dr. Herb Zacheo, Emerson Mayes, William Brennan, Frank Genther, Paul McGuire, Charles Goble, Joseph Aiello and Irma Duncan.

Mrs. Rita Senor, president of the club's auxiliary, saluted the gathering with words of greeting from this fast growing group.

Club president John LaLima gave a progress report on club activities and urged continued support for the many projects.

planned this year. He also introduced the club's choice for honorary membership, Ray Caunitz, Ed Davey and Chet Joy, whose combined membership years total more than 75. LaLima also announced that the new skeet facilities would be in operation this year at the club's modern trap and skeet field in St. Remy.

Among the guests introduced by toastmaster Robert Saehloff were William Housen and Dorothy Sperle, landowners, and Albert Roberts, a conservation officer.

Joseph Aiello was the banquet chairman. The banquet was dedicated to Ray Caunitz in honor of his 80th birthday. There were approximately 200 members and guests in attendance.

Conference by dumping Westchester 23-14. Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

The win gave the Senators a 2-2 MHC record and a 7-5 overall mark. First place went to the powerful Orange Community College with a 4-0, second to Rockland at 3-1, fourth to Westchester 1-3 and last to Dutchess 0-4.

John Warfel won the only pin by the Senators in the 150 pound class as he dumped his opponent in 3:04. Decision wins were won by Rich Oakley—142; Clyde Kaneshiro—126; for Ulster. The Senators won three weight classes by forfeits.

The Senators didn't fair to well the next day as they dropped a 41-5 decision to Farmington making its overall mark 7-6 on the season.

The only Ulster points came on a forfeit win in the 167 pound class.

Evans Was Good--McGrady Perfect

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lee Evans had a pretty good weekend but one step ahead of the Olympic champion was Martin McGrady, who had a perfect weekend.

McGrady, the 23-year-old Washington, D.C., schoolteacher, virtually unbeatable at 600 yards, climaxed a two-day snow-filled tour of the country with consecutive world shattering performances.

Saturday night at the 10th annual Mason-Dixon track and field games at Louisville, Ky., the smooth-striding McGrady lowered his own 600 record to 1 minute 8.5 seconds for his seventh triumph this year and 25th in 27 attempts since creating his world mark of 1:09 at the 8-lap oval in Louisville in 1966.

And Friday in Los Angeles McGrady knocked off Evans by inches in the 600 as each ran a 1:08.7, which lasted as a world record less than 24 hours.

"It seems every time I run well, McGrady gets me the same way — right at the finish," Evans said in Los Angeles, after losing to McGrady for the third time this season.

"I was physically tired," McGrady said Saturday in Louisville after making the trip from the West Coast in eight hours due to detours because of poor flying conditions, arriving just 1½ hours before his race.

"I was stiff during the race and really had to work to get the record," McGrady said. I wasn't worried about the competition but then heard footsteps with 50 yards to go. That made me push harder and inspired me."

The footsteps were that of Tommie Turner of Murray State, who finished two strides behind McGrady in 1:09.

Evans also won Saturday, taking the 600 at the Michigan State Relays. Evans of San Jose, Calif., the 400-meter Olympic winner, was clocked in 1:08.9.

John Carlos, another Olympian, considered the top sprinter in the world, met defeat for the first time Saturday in Michigan, dropping the 60-yard dash to Michigan State's Herb Washington.

Carlos, who had won 11 straight, finished third and was clocked in 6.3 seconds, finishing behind Washington at 6.1 and Jimmy Harris of Ohio State at 6.2. Big John came back to capture the 300-yard run in 30.3 seconds.

Carlos also won the 60 at Los Angeles and Dick Ralback, former UCLA star, took the pole vault at 17 feet, 1 inch.

Double winners at Los Angeles and Louisville were Olympic champion Willie Davenport, winning the 60 and 70-yard high hurdles and Randy Matson, gold medalist at Mexico City in the shot put, winning his specialty at both meets.

Kathy Hammond of Seattle cracked the women's 500-yard mark at the Coast meet with a 1:06.3 clocking, while Mamie Rallins, the Olympian from Chicago set a world standard for the women's 70-yard high hurdle with an 8.8 clocking.

Another world record shattered at Louisville was the 47.4 seconds in the women's 440-yard relay by the Atoms Track Club of New York, while Jim Green of Kentucky and Larry Highbaugh of Indiana finished in a deadheat for first in the 70-yard dash, tying the world mark of 6.8.

At the Houston Astrodome, in a two-day meet, several world bests were created on the five-lap board track. However, the marks are not considered for world records. The recognized standard is a minimum of eight laps to the mile.

Friday Kansas State, anchored by Ken Swenson, bettered two world records in the two-mile, (7:22.3), and sprint medley, (3:17.3), relays.

Fred Newhouse of Prairie View A&M took the 440-yard college division race in 45.6 for another world best while Villanova's Larry James took the university division in 46.9. Wildcat Miller, teammate Marty Liquori swept to the mile title in 4:05.5.

Saturday more records toppled as Houston recorded a 9:34.0 time in a distance medley and Texas A&M posted a 3:05.7 for the mile relay. Gerald Tinker of Memphis State tied the world 100-yard dash mark of 9.4 seconds set last year by Lennox

Sometimes we get the feeling we're being followed.

Everybody's getting into the act.

Everybody's making a small car.

And since we've made more of them than any one else, we thought we'd pass along some things we've learned about the business over the years:

First off, there's no doubt about it, the only way to make an economy car is expensively.

So Rule No. 1, don't scrimp.

Get yourself the best engineers in the business and then hire 9,000 or so top inspectors to keep them on their toes.

Next, try to develop an engine that's not a gas-guzzler. If you can get it to run on pints of oil instead of quarts, great. If you can get it to run on air instead of water, fantastic.

Work on things to make your car last longer. Like giving it 45 pounds of paint to protect its top and a steel bottom to protect its bottom.

Important: Make sure you can service any year car you make. There's nothing worse than having someone find out that a part they need to make their car go is no longer available.

Finally, spend less time worrying about what your car looks like and more time worrying about how it works.

Perfecting a good economy car is a time-consuming business. So far it has consumed 25 years of our time.

Mann Wins Burdines

MIAMI (UPI)—Towering Carol Mann, making her "best start ever" in tournament play, socked home a par putt in the first hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday to win the $40,000 Burdines Ladies Invitational golf tournament over Sandra Haynie.

The two were tied going into the final round and ended the regulation 18 with identical 75s for the day—even par 216 for the tournament.

Miss Haynie, who was on crutches as the result of a knee operation until just a few weeks ago, hit her tee shot into a trap, and reached the green in three, to bogey the first playoff hole. Miss Mann made her par four on the 350-yard hole for the victory.

"This is my best start ever in tournament play," said Miss Mann, of Towson, Md. "Miami is lucky for me." Last year she finished third in the Burdine.

Tied for third place in the LPGA tourney at 219 were Jane Blalock, Marilyn Smith and Sandra Palmer. In fourth at 220 were Derta Whalen and Sharon Miller.

Miss Mann collected $6,000 for the win. Miss Haynie got $4,200 and the three third placers got $2,433 each.

"The last time I was in a playoff in Corpus Christi, Texas, I won that one, too," Miss Mann said. "The confidence of winning that one helped carry me over into this playoff."

Dear Abby

Seeks Aid on Question

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I understand that you confer with clergymen when it comes to religious matters, so here is one for you to ask a rabbi.

We recently buried my father. He and mamma had been married nearly 40 years, and daddy always wore the wedding ring mamma gave him. It was his wish to be buried wearing that ring. During his illness he lost a lot of weight and the ring became loose on his finger, but he wanted so much to wear it until the very end that he wrapped some tape around it.

When dad died and it came time to bury him, the man at the Jewish mortuary (he was not a rabbi) told mamma that according to Jewish law, "we come into this world with nothing and we should leave with nothing," so daddy could not be buried with his ring.

Of course my mother felt terrible, but she couldn't do anything about it, so they buried daddy without his ring.

What I would like to know is, was that man at the Jewish mortuary right or wasn't he?

THE DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: It is the opinion of the rabbis with whom I have discussed your letter that although the man at the mortuary quoted Jewish "philosophy," it is not Jewish law. But even if it were, the wishes of your mother should have been respected. Too bad your mother didn't consult a rabbi.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "HANDSOME JIM IN BOSTON," who wrote, "When my wife and I were married, folks said 'How could Handsone Jim ever marry that tub of lard!" Eleven years ago I married a little 105-pound brunette gal. Since that day she has helped me to raise three lovely daughters that were mine from a former marriage. That little woman has helped me build a business that has been very good to us. So good in fact that we now own five Rolls Royces and four Mercedes, and one of the most beautiful homes in this city. We don't owe a dime to anyone either.

Right now my little brunette weighs 135 pounds and she's 5 feet tall, so you can see she's put on a few pounds. But that doesn't bother me. Last time I noticed she was getting slightly plump, I said, "Honey, if you continue to gain weight I'll just have to buy you a bigger mink coat next year." She's the greatest.

JOHN LEWIS,
LAWTON, OKLAHOMA

DEAR JOHN: No she isn't. YOU are!

DEAR ABBY: I have had the feeling for a long time that my husband is too fond of his sister. He has a brother he rarely sees, but he MUST see his sister regularly.

I don't think it's jealousy on my part as I know he loves me, and I love him dearly, but even though this sister of his is married, her husband and I are "outsiders" when those two get together. I don't think I have an evil mind. Abby, but do you think what I am hinting at is possible. For heaven's sake do not use my name or town.

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes, it is possible. But if I were you,

I would not harbor any such far out suspicions. Some brothers and sisters are close and have a very real affection for each other, but that's as far as it goes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. P. S.: You are so right. Never explain. Your friends don't need it, and your critics will not believe you anyway.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490).

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You want quick action, but some restraint is advisable. Utilize innate ability to be original, to arouse enthusiasm. You may find that older individuals is somewhat skeptical.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't embark upon journey, no matter how short, without complete knowledge of why, where and how. Your hunches are correct. If you perceive need for delay, heed that perception.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Money involves friends, perhaps mixing of business with pleasure. Be versatile. Display humor, flexibility. But don't mistake flattery for real response.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Cycle high, but some in authority flex muscles at you. Have facts at hand. Your files, information, opinions may be tested. Be ready. Then you are more likely to succeed.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Change, travel, variety keynote day. There are undercurrents which make it virtually impossible to lay down definite guidelines. Much of what you seek requires additional planning.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with aid from friends — both in moral and financial areas. Mate, partner displays aggressiveness. Your task is to maintain harmony.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Dynamic day. You find out where you stand. Now go after the why. Be reasonable and analytical. Seek reasons. Go to the source. Then you heal emotional wounds.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Good lunar aspects today coincide with long-range ventures. Get in condition—both mental and physical. Look ahead. Refuse to be chained to past.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Affairs of heart command attention. You may be diverted from vital task. But realize your emotions require outlet. One who is good to you deserves appreciation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Best to permit others to make definite assertions. Withhold judgment. Some conditions around you are temporary, not permanent. Bide your time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Pacing is important. Avoid moving too fast. Know where you are going—and why. If there is confusion, organize it. Means ride with the tide. Message will become increasingly clear.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Guard possessions. Some would like to take over some of your valuables. Key is to be alert, maintain sense of humor. Laugh at individual who puts forth preposterous scheme.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have ability to accumulate material goods. What you require is more self-esteem. Be confident. Know you have ability and concentrate on success. You will be finishing rather than starting major project this year.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

FROZEN POP: (Q.) My girl friends and I got into bad trouble with some house builders. My parents found out, and treat me like I wasn't their daughter.

When my dad comes home he kisses everyone but me. He snaps at me. When I smile at him he just turns away. He won't talk to me.

Mom says to give him time. But I'm thinking of running away. My girl friends are, too. What should I do? I'm 13—Deeply Hurt in Rhode Island

(A.) What you and the house builders did must have been pretty much to upset your father to such a degree.

Don't run away. Go to him and tell him: (1) You're sorry. (2) You've learned and will do right from now on. (3) You're willing to take any punishment he decides on, but you love him and want him to love you, and that it is not fair for him to take his love away. I believe he will hear you.

BOY WANTED: (Q.) I am a very nice young lady. I am 16 and want a boy friend. But my parents don't think I should have one yet. My mother says I am very mature, but sometimes I just sit and cry like a baby.

I think of all the 16-year-old girls who can have boy friends, while I can't. Please help me—Sitting and Crying.

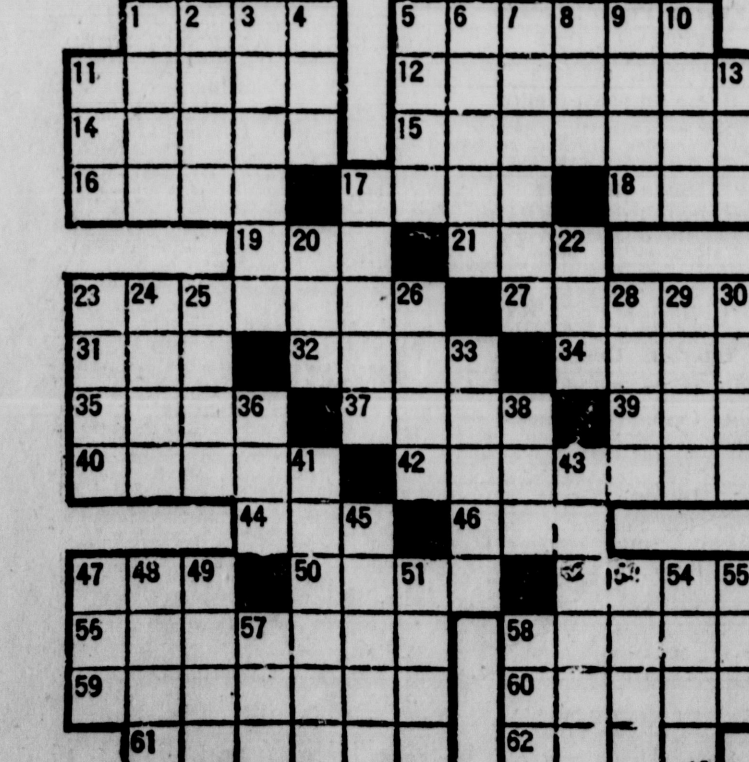

(A.) You are old enough to have a boy friend or boy friends and to have dates—at least double-dates.

Your parents should realize that friends of the opposite sex are natural, normal, and good medicine for a 16-year-old.

To mature healthily and happily, a 16-year-old needs them. (Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

BACK FROM VIETNAM—Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, returning Sunday from an inspection of the war zone, said the U. S. can expect more U. S. troop pullouts from Vietnam because of continued progress in turning the war over to the South Vietnamese. Here, Laird (R) bids farewell to Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, who accompanied him, as they depart the airport. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

S. Viet Troops Kill 182

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops killed 182 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers in some of the heaviest fighting in the northern war zone province since early January, military spokesmen said today.

The South Vietnamese fought two large-scale battles Sunday 7 to 10 miles south and southwest of Hoi An, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon. The area is near mountain hideouts used by both North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

South Vietnamese armored cavalry units reinforced by two Ranger battalions reported killing 145 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and capturing 12 others in an all-day battle seven miles south of Hoi An.

Military spokesmen estimated two guerrilla battalions were involved and that the South Vietnamese killed a battalion commander, an assistant battalion commander and a company commander.

In a second clash 11 miles southwest of Hoi An, South Vietnamese regional force militiamen killed 37 guerrillas. Military spokesmen described South Vietnamese casualties as light.

Near the Cambodian border, U. S. 1st Air Cavalrymen called in artillery, helicopter gunships and air strikes in killing three guerrillas 12 miles north of Tay Ninh City and 65 miles northwest of Saigon. One American was killed and 11 wounded.

In the air, U. S. B52s flew a raid over the A Shau Valley, 35 miles southwest of the northern city of Hue, dropping more than 90 tons of bombs.

In Vientiane, North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops today fired 14 long-range rockets into Pakse, a vital government stronghold in Southern Laos, military spokesmen said.

The missiles missed their apparent targets, the airfield and government military installations, and instead hit villages nearby, killing one person and wounding several, the report said.

Pakse is 270 miles southeast of Vientiane and is the only government stronghold in an area largely controlled by the North Vietnamese who man the Ho Chi Minh Trail from North to South Vietnam.

One of the rockets this morning hit the compound of the U. S. Agency for International Development but there was no damage reported.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says "Vietnamization" is proceeding "ahead of schedule" in South Vietnam and more U. S. troop pullouts can be expected because of continuing progress.

However, the defense chief, who returned Sunday from a three-day inspection of the war zone, declined to say whether the progress he saw in the military program would bring a speedup in President Nixon's troop withdrawal timetable.

In a brief news conference at Washington National Airport upon his arrival, Laird refused to speculate on any additional troops withdrawals beyond the 115,000 men scheduled to be brought home by April 15.

102 on Dominican Flight

Doubt Any Survived Air Crash

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—A from the Airport of the Dominican Airways DC9 jetliner with 102 persons lost power in one engine and crashed into the Caribbean moments after takeoff Sunday night. A Navy spokesman said there appeared to be no survivors.

The twin-jet DC9, in service only one month, faltered just after takeoff on the 250-mile flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico. The pilot radioed the control tower that an engine had failed and he was losing power. The plane banked into a right turn and plunged into the sea.

Among the 97 passengers and five crewmen were former world lightweight boxing champion Carlos "Teo" Cruz, his wife and two children; a 12-member Puerto Rican women's volleyball team, and the wife and daughter of former President Antonio Imbert Barreras, who helped plot the assassination of dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina in 1961.

The 13th member of the Puerto Rican volleyball team, Carmine Rosa Sabater, escaped the fate of her team members because she had gone to San Juan Saturday to attend an Olympic Committee dinner where she was cited as the outstanding female volleyball player in Puerto Rico.

Dominican Airlines said this catastrophe that has claimed so many useful lives of our two countries," Belaguer said. "I present to your excellency testimony of the solidarity of our government and our peoples to Puerto Rican families who have so sadly suffered by this terrible tragedy."

It was the worst civil aviation disaster in Dominican history and recalled a 1943 plane crash in which 30 baseball players were killed.

ident Joaquin Belaguer cabled condolences to Gov. Luis A. Ferre of Puerto Rico.

Moslems Call for Liberation

By United Press International
Millions of Moslems throughout the Arab world began their holiest of feasts today with calls for continuing the fight against Israel until all occupied Arab lands are liberated.

Israeli warplanes on the eve of the Feast of Al Adha Atassi of Syria led their people into the mosques this morning to hear sheikhs implore them to make sacrifices for the fight against Israel.

Cairo Radio, Damascus Radio and Beirut Radio all broadcast accounts of the celebrations on the first day of the Feast of Al Adha marking God's command to Abraham to sacrifice one of his sons.

The semiofficial Cairo news paper Al Ahran announced that government departments have been instructed to cut their expenses to give absolute priority to the Egyptian military budget, which runs about $1.15 billion annually.

The Israeli cabinet met in a secret session Sunday night but a spokesman said the members did not discuss Thursday's accidental raid on an Egyptian metal works that killed an estimated 70 persons.

PAINTING WITH A PURPOSE

Art Flourishes at Rhinebeck Hospital

Perhaps one of the worst fears of those facing hospitalization is the threat of boredom, especially for young people. One young patient at Northern Dutchess Hospital has successfully coped with that problem.

Seventeen-year-old Connie Fitte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fitte and a senior at Roosevelt High School, Hyde Park, found herself hospitalized around Christmas last year and with time on her hands. A friend suggested that she try her hand at decorating glass apothecary jars. Connie is a fine arts major and the idea suited her to a "T."

Connie brought one of the jars she had done at Christmas with her when she reentered the hospital recently.

"One of the nurses asked if I could do another one like it for her and it just went from there," she explained.

"From there" means sales of $24 to date with orders pending. Connie, who hopes to attend Dutchess Community College in the fall as a commercial arts major, is planning to use the money, not to buy more paint or apothecary jars, but to purchase a new saddle for her own horse, but I'm not an expert rider. I just ride for pleasure," she said. "I broke in my horse and I just rode for pleasure."

Business has flourished so much for Connie that she may not have much time left for riding. She is beginning to keep a permanent record of her original designs and a ledger book to keep track of her growing profits.

And as for boredom, Connie is much too busy to think about that!

Using various sized jars, model enamel paints and original designs, Connie creates colorful "catch-alls" to suit anyone's taste. She has decorated jars with flowers and animals and several with the comical "Peanuts" characters. If Connie can sketch it, she can paint it on glass.

"Some of the designs are in my head, but I can copy almost anything or create a pattern from a specific description," she said.

Connie sketches the pattern first, outlines it in black and tapes the design to the inside of the jar. The painting is done on the outside, staying within the lines of the sketch. The pattern is removed, details and shadings added and the hand-painted piece is finished.

Smokers May Kick Habit In Local Five-Day Plan

KINGSTON Smokers who want to kick the habit will have their chance next week under a special five-day plan to be conducted in Kingston by a physician-clergyman team.

The plan consists of regular evening group sessions and a daily personal control program for home or work. It has had a successful three-year trial run in most major cities of the U.S. and Canada and has been featured in Time, Newsweek, Pageant and many of the nation's leading newspapers.

Conducting the program locally will be Dr. George Wootan, 185 Clinton Avenue, and the Rev. Dan W. Schiffbauer, of Catskill Region Tuberculosis

the Kingston Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Group therapy sessions will be held at 7:30 p.m. each day beginning Sunday, Feb. 22, at Kingston Savings Bank, Bonanza Branch, Route 9W. All meetings except Monday night, Feb. 23, will be held at Kingston Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, 267 Wall Street.

Sponsored by the Kingston Seventh-Day Adventist Church, in cooperation with the Ulster County Interagency Council on the Hazards of Smoking, consisting of the American Cancer Society, Ulster County Unit, Mid-Hudson Heart Association, and R. D. Association, the five-day plan is a public service to help improve the health of the community and to contribute to the national physical fitness program, Schiffbauer explains.

The five-day plan to stop smoking features such topics as psychological and physical aspects of the habit, how desire to smoke can be lessened, how will-power can be strengthened, physical effects of smoking, organizations of buddy system and many other techniques designed to break the habit within a five-day period.

A feature will be the film "Countdown" depicting in full color a lung cancer operation to be shown, Sunday night, the first evening of the session.

Developed under the sponsorship of the Seventh-Day Adventist denomination, the plan was originated by Dr. J. Wayne McFarland and Elman J. Folkenberg, clergyman, of South Lancaster, Mass.

Further information is available through the Rev. Mr. Schiffbauer.

Mrs. Julius Lipton, owner of Lipton's Bee Line said today that changes in the bus routes in the city would be announced later this week.

Mrs. Lipton said that the Public Service Commission approved the transfer of the city lines from her company to the Eagle Bus Line of Ellenville last week.

KINGSTON

Public Service Commission approved the transfer of the city lines from her company to the Eagle Bus Line of Ellenville last week.

She said that five days notice would be given before any changes are made.

Mrs. Lipton said that the College to Offer Oriental Civilization

STONE RIDGE knowledge of the culture of this part of the world. The Series coordinators are Mr. Harry Matzen, chairman of the Social Science Division, and Mr. Stephen Larsen, a division member. Mr. Matzen teaches courses in the History of the Far East; Mr. Larsen teaches Psychology. Both men have a strong interest in eastern culture. The lectures will be given by eminent westerners who have become involved with the wisdom of the East. Two lectures have already been scheduled for March 6 and March 13 at 7:30 p. m. at the College's Stone Ridge campus. Both are open to the public without charge.

Bryan Cuttito, a student monk of Tibetan Buddhism in residence at the Lamastery of New Jersey, is scheduled to speak March 6 on "Tibetan Buddhism and the Tantrik Philosophy."

Dr. Hugo Munsterburg, a professor of Art at the State University College at New Paltz, is scheduled to lecture on March 13. His topic is "The Art and Culture of China" and will be accompanied by some interesting slides. Mr. Larsen said an additional lecture on Zen Buddhism is being planned for April, with the date Ridge campus. Both are open to the public without charge.

With the rapidly increasing interest in the United States and Europe in various aspects of eastern religion, our traditional series on oriental civilization should take on a new perspective.

Christensen-Carroll Nuptials

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Helen Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Christensen of 9 Millers Lane, Kingston, and Kevin Michael Carroll of Croton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Carroll of Wynnewood, Pa., on Saturday, Feb. 7.

The Rev. Alfred Pizzuto officiated at the double ring ceremony and bestowed the Papal Blessing. James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. The church was decorated with vases of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and carnations. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line, floor-length gown of ivory peau de soie, fashioned with an empire bodice of English net and Alencon lace with seed pearls and aurora sequins. The gown featured a scalloped neckline and long traditional sleeves. Appliques of matching lace highlighted the skirt and added detail to the circular chapel length train. She wore a Juliet cap with fingertip two-tiered veil of silk illusion net and carried a colonial bouquet of ivory roses and white stephanotis. Miss Karen A. Christensen, sister of the bride, Boston, Mass., was maid of honor in an A-line gown styled with an emerald green velvet bodice and a skirt of blue green moire. Her headpiece was a blue-green moire bow and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and Talisman roses.

Attendants were Miss Anne McNamee, Hempstead, L. I., Miss Patricia Christensen, Latham, both cousins of the bride; Miss Anne Marie Smith, New Jersey, a former classmate of the bride. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendants and they carried similar bouquets.

Dennis P. Carroll, brother of the bridegroom, Wynnewood, Pa., served as best man. Ushers were Terrence J. Carroll, brother of the bridegroom, Wynnewood, Pa.; Joseph F. Grant, Winchester, Mass.; and Leo Schenone, Binghamton.

A reception for 75 guests was held at Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Montego Bay, Jamaica, the bride wore a royal blue dress and coat ensemble, featuring cream trim. She wore gray patent leather accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and the College of St. Rose where she was awarded a BA degree in History and Political Science. She is employed by Continental Insurance Company, New York City.

Her husband, a 1965 alumnus of Croton High School and a 1969 graduate of Siena College, earned his BS degree in Finance and was enrolled in a ROTC Program, and commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Army. He is employed as an assistant accountant by Realty Hotels in New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will reside at Croton.

PAW Play Reading Unit Tuesday

Woodstock playwright Holly Beye will lead the play reading unit of Woodstock's Performing Arts Group in a reading of young British Playwright Ann Jellicoe's "Shelley Or the Idealist," Tuesday evening, at Fellowship Hall of the Lutheran Church in Woodstock, at 8:30. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

The play is a biographical account of the last 11 years of the poet's life and illuminates the conflict between the Utopian ideals by which he was determined to live, and the disastrous results of his blindness to the effects of these ideals on those he loved most.

The author, Ann Jellicoe, is best known for her phenomenally successful play, "The Knack," which was later made into a movie. She describes "Shelley" as a tragedy-comedy and says about it: "... his life illustrates certain problems of goodness which are so much more interesting than those of evil ... Shelley's life ... involves the problems of the creative artist rejected by his time ... the position of women, of the teacher who projects his own standards on his pupils and is disturbed when they don't live up to his image."

The play is being considered for presentation later on this season by Performing Arts.

BEER HAIR SET

Stale beer is a good solution for setting hair since it gives the hair "Body." Just dampen the hair and roll. The hair will not retain the beer odor when dry. Another hair trick is to fill a spray bottle with water and spray your hair as you pin it up.

Gonzales-Switz Vows Taken

Miss Ximena T. Gonzales, step-daughter and daughter, respectively of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Wall of 188 Salem Street, Port Ewen, exchanged nuptial vows with Gordon A. Switz of Lomontville, son of Mrs. James R. Dunbar and the late Robert Gordon Switz, Saturday, Feb. 7 at Presentation Church of Port Ewen.

The Rev. James Cannon officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Robert J. Corcoran, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. White carnations decorated the family pews.

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride wore a white silk organza gown with lace flower appliques, long sleeves and wide cuffs. Her floor length French veil was accented with lace flower appliques and attached to an organza bow. She carried a cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations, green foliage, accented with a touch of pink.

Marcela Crespo of New York City was honor attendant. She wore a floor length, pink, sleeveless organza gown, fashioned with an organza yoke, high lace neckline, and accented with grass-green ribbon belt at the waistline. She carried a colonial style bouquet of dark pink and white pompons.

Alexandra M. Wall was flower girl for her sister in a short white lace gown, styled with a full skirt, pink sash with large bow in back. A pink organza bow served as her headpiece and she carried a small pink bouquet of pompons.

Edward Robinson of Kerhonkson was best man. Ushers were Melvyn Tapper of Accord and Ricardo Peduzzi of Oneonta.

A reception for 70 guests was held at Hudson Overlook Inn, West Park.

For her wedding trip, the bride selected a navy blue vest and skirt with matching demi-fitted navy blue coat, a light blue Edwardian blouse and navy accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Santiago College, a high school in Santiago, Chile, S. A., accredited to the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges of the U.S. and was graduated from the School of Economics of University of Chile. She worked as assistant to Dr. Jorge Marshall on a research project with Inter American Development Bank in Chile which was entitled "International Finance in Latin America."

Her husband, an alumnus of Rondout Valley High School, is a senior at State University of New York at Oneonta where he is a candidate for a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology.

Mr. and Mrs. Switz will reside at Oneonta.

Second Annual Freeman Fashion Show March 3rd!

WOMAN'S PAGE EDITOR

The Woman's Dept. of the Daily Freeman has announced today that its 1970 Fashion Preview will be given on Tuesday, March 3 in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. All proceeds will be for the benefit of the Ulster County Community Chest.

This will be the Freeman's second annual fashion show. It will be complete with the latest in spring and summer fashions, music by Pete Ferraro and his ensemble, refreshments and gifts.

This year's fashion show will be presented in the evening with showtime starting at 7:30. The change to the evening time will enable many more women to attend.

Fashions will be shown through the courtesy of Ulster County leading stores. They will include those for children, pre-teen, junior miss, petite, regular and half size. Fashion commentator will be Dorothy A. Narel, women's page editor.

Tickets Available

Tickets to the benefit show are available and will be sold on a "first come, first served" basis. Seating is limited in the Crystal Room so early reservations should be made by using the coupon printed in today's Freeman on Page 10 or by calling Diane Norton in the Freeman office.

This year's show will have several unique ideas incorporated into it. Its theme will range from the baby's christening outfit (a live baby?) to that all important wedding day. Peter Rabbit will make an appearance with several of the tots in their Easter finery and Grandma will be reminded of yesterday's fashions when models parade in some of the finest styles of the 1890's through the Flapper era.

Gifts, Gifts

Extra attention has even been paid to this year's fine selection of gifts to be awarded during the show. Some of these items will include an Oneida Revere bowl; a $45 cosmetic case complete with cosmetics; a bottle of Balmains' Jolie Madame perfume; a gift from Faberge in New York; first aid auto kits; bill folds; flight bags; cookbooks and other items.

Some of this county's best known models will be seen in the show as well as the Freeman's three Valentine Queens. Our current queen, Bonnie Barringer will be modeling her outfit won from Jonathan Logan's in New York.

Those who plan on attending the show this year will discover that fashions are fun. They are pretty, outrageous, wild, conservative. Dresses are made of leather, plastic, suede as well as wool, silk and cotton.

There is bound to be a great variety of styles because the designers have introduced tremendous varieties. This season, skirts in Paris were down to the floor, around the calf and ankle or just below the knees.

Women will be able to switch their personalities easily. They can be refined, ladylike, restrained, grown-up, girly, dolly, sexy, provocative, uninhibited or just themselves.

It would appear, in face of current fashion trends, that designers are finally agreeing that women come in all sizes and shapes and they need a wide variety of fashion choices in order to be satisfied.

According to Rosette Hargrove of NEA, there isn't a definite or defined 1970 silhouette for which, a woman thinks despairingly, she will have to throw out everything she owns to be in the running.

The only strong, successful trend, says Miss Hargrove, is the longer skirt. And the fact that sleeves, long or short, are in.

The 18-year-olds with beautiful legs will certainly stick to the mini another season. Pants suits are still very much in vogue showing up now at balls and other formal.

The fashion world being what it is today, you can be sure of having a most enjoyable time at this year's 1970 Fashion Preview.

Complete details of the show will be announced.

Dear Folks:

The battle of the bottles — and those "made-too-good" sticky labels — has been solved.

Beautiful wine bottles, sweetening bottles, jelly glasses, can have their labels removed easily if you just follow my addlepat advice.

I was thinking the other day that if I filled that beautiful bottle with scalding water from my teakettle and set it aside for a while, maybe that dog-gone label would come off without breaking a finernail or ruining my good paring knife.

It did just that!
Within two or three minutes, I gently put my finernail under the corner of the label and slowly peeled the whole kit and caboodle off!

For the remaining goop, glop and minute amount of stuff left, just grab your old steel wool pad and rub a few times while the warm water is still in the bottle.

It will really gleam.

... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For some time now I have been making psychedelic cake frosting. Here is all I do:

I splash drops of each of the four colors of food coloring directly on the frosting of the cake, then take a knife or spatula and swirl it all together. Be careful not to swirl it too much, or you will blend the colors more than they should be blended and thus will ruin the effect. Top it off, if you have them, with those multi-colored, candy cake toppings, and you have an edible painting! This works equally well with white frosting, or with any of the pastel-colored, flavored frostings.

UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE

February is traditionally a month of furniture sales. So let's take a look at fillings for upholstered furniture, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. By law the filling materials used in upholstered furniture must be labeled and the label attached to the furniture. Look for this information on the cover of the seat platform and on each cushion.

Three types of filling are currently popular, but others are also available. Urethane foam is the least expensive of these and one of the most commonly found. Different grades are manufactured so check the resiliency and compare it with other cushions in the store. Poorest grades have been known to yellow and harden in a short time.

Polyfoam (or poly dac as some salesman say) is a combination of urethane foam and polyester (often Dacron polyester). The foam is wrapped with white polyester fibers to result in a comfortable cushion that holds its shape well. Polyfoam is softer than urethane alone. It is also more expensive. One manufacturer charges about $40 more for a 90" sofa with six loose polyfoam cushions than for the same sofa with urethane cushions.

Polyester alone makes a very soft cushion with good return to shape. It is also costly. A sofa with 6 loose cushions (depending on manufacturer and sofa length) might run from $55 to $80 more if polyester cushions are selected instead of urethane foam. For a firm sofa bed the extra softness may be worth the added expenditure; for a sofa with coiled springs, the soft cushions may prove unnecessary.

Latex foam is also available, but it has been largely replaced by lower costing urethane foam. Down and feathers are rarely found in cushions and then only in very expensive furniture.

For further help in buying furniture ask for these leaflets, No. 2 "When You Buy a Lounge Chair" and No. 43 "Furniture Selection." Write to Ulster County Home Economics Division, 74 John St., U.P.O. Box 545, Kingston, N.Y. 12401 or call 338-3494.

Farmingdale Hands UCCC Third Defeat

By JIM MASSA

FARMINGDALE—Some might say it was the "jinx" Farmingdale has had over Ulster County Community College basketball teams. Some might even speculate the Aggies have a better team. And some might even say Ulster went into Saturday's game taking the Aggies too lightly. Regardless of what anybody said or says, this fact remains: The Aggies of Farmingdale kept their regional playoff hopes alive by downing Ulster's newly crowned Mid-Hudson Conference champions, 83-80, for a well-deserved win before 300 spectators.

It was still anybody's game with four minutes left to play. The score was tied 74-74 on a Linell Marshall free throw. Marshall missed his second try and Tony Pough, who sat out 12 minutes of the second half with four personals, came back basket, 82-80 with 1:35 left to play in the game to replace Larry Trippodo.

Clarence Brown, who was fouled by Trippodo, had a 1-and-1, sank both to give Farmingdale a 76-74 lead at the 3:23 mark. Pough hit with the equalizer 76-76 at 3:03. Larry Gallaway sent the Aggies back in front, 78-76, with a jumper from 18 feet out. Pough hit Marshall underneath for a layup and it was tied again, 78-78, with 2:30 left.

Tied at 80 All

Bill Baltimore, who made only two field goals all night put the Aggies on top 80-78 with 2:15 to go. Pough again tied it at 80 all with a 10-footer at 1:50. Gallaway then took a rebound off his offensive board and pushed it through the hoop for what proved to be the winning shot. Pough had a chance to tie it for the Senators on a 1-and-1 foul situation, but he missed the first attempt and the Aggies grabbed the rebound. With 1:12 remaining, the Aggies moved into a freeze. Moving the ball in and out with great poise, the Aggies stalled until Jerry Moss fouled Gallaway to stop the clock and the freeze.

Gallaway converted the first to make it 83-80, with 39 seconds left. He missed the second and Ulster had the ball, but Gallaway intercepted a Senator pass and was fouled by Ray Lindhorst, who left the game with his fifth personal. Gallaway missed from the foul line. Tony Pough grabbed the ball and fired a three-quarter court shot that hit the rim and bounced off at the final buzzer.

"We weren't up for the game after beating Westchester last night," said Coach Mike Perry. "They were up and fighting to stay alive in the regionals. Moss is still in a slump and the whole team was sluggish."

"The boys did a bangup job on Moss," said Coach George Matoli of Farmingdale. "We knew we had to win this one, if we were to have a shot at an invitation for the regional tournament."

"Tim Quinn is the most underrated guard in the region and has been the backbone of the club," Matoli added.

Quinn led the Aggies with 22 points, but missed the exciting final four minutes, as he left with five personals. Gallaway added 21 for Farmingdale. Marshall, with his second fine effort in a row, led UCCC with 23.

After trailing most of the first half which ended in favor of Farmingdale 48-43, the Senators looked like themselves for the first ten and a half minutes of the second half. It took the Aggies exactly eight minutes to hit a field goal. Meanwhile, Ulster ran off a 14-4 spurt to take a 61-54 lead.

Berry Fouls Out

With Ulster leading 65-57 and 9:30 left to play, Berry was tagged with a fifth personal foul and this was a bad blow to the UCCC hopes. However, the call actually wasn't on Berry, because he wasn't even in the play. The official was blocked out of the play and by the time he got around the players after he blew the whistle, Berry was the only one near him, so Glenn was tagged with someone else's foul. From that point on the Senators went downhill.

SIDE BARS: We believe that the biggest reason for losses at Farmingdale and West Point Plebes was poor scheduling on the part of the Senators. When you play teams like Queensborough and Westchester one night, you don't schedule games for the next afternoon. Not unless you want to go into the game with a tired club and get beat. So far as this reporter is concerned, that's exactly what happened to UCCC.

In our humble opinion, Ulster is at least 20 points better than West Point and Farmingdale when the club is rested. Ulster now has a 19-3 record and the defeat was the first in Region XV competition this season.

Ulster made only 9 of 19 free throw attempts in the second half and only 20 of 36 all night. Farmingdale, meanwhile was 23 for 33. UCCC hit 30 of 61 field goal attempts for 49 percent. The Aggies were 29 of 72 for 40 percent. Farmingdale had the edge in rebounds, 49-42, even though they were a smaller club. Ulster had 20 turnovers to 12 for the Aggies.

When you don't get hustle from Moss for at least 15 minutes of a ball game, you know something must be wrong. The jinx we speak about is the fact that Ulster has lost five straight games on the Aggie court, four to Farmingdale and one to Suffolk.

The score:
 Farmingdale (83) FG 22-40 3-10 FT 1-2
 Ulster (80) FG 23-61 3-10 FT 1-2
 Moss 6-10 3-10 1-2
 Berry 3-8 0-0 0-0
 Marshall 11-12 3-4 0-0
 Pough 6-12 3-4 0-0
 Lindhorst 2-4 0-0 0-0

For Mike Ferraro: Another IL Whirl

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON

It was more than a baseball contract that Mike Ferraro of Kingston signed the other day. It was a personal commitment to one more year of minor league baseball, with maybe a happy ending.

The International League All Star third baseman for the past two years, Ferraro returned the first two contracts sent to him by the Rochester Red Wings. The third he found acceptable. "I got just about what I asked for and I'm happy with the terms," said Ferraro. "I'm looking forward to the opening of spring training at Daytona Beach on March 24."

Meanwhile, the Red Wings' general manager, Bob Turner, expressed the satisfaction of the Rochester front office, which was never sure Ferraro would go back this season.

Championship Prospects
 "We're happy to have Mike back with us for another season," said Turner over the long distance telephone. "Mike did a good job for us last season and we think we have the makings of a championship team this year."

Ferraro batted .279 for Rochester in 1969, a late season slump dropping him from the .290 range. He still was voted the league's all-star third baseman, as he was with Syracuse in 1968 when he batted .293.

"I felt all along that I would return to Rochester, if the terms were right," said Ferraro.

raro. "There are several good prospects joining the club and we have a couple of big incentives going for us," he added. "The first is the International League title and, secondly, the Little World Series with the American Association champions is being revived this year. That would mean extra money for all of us."

Three Top Prospects
 All three top Red Wing prospects for 1970 mentioned by Ferraro will come up from the Baltimore farm team at Dallas in the Texas League. The trio includes shortstop Bob Grich, who batted .301; outfielder Don Baylor (.310) and Roger Freede, who batted .290 and slugged 28 home runs.

This is the year of decision for Ferraro, who has been in the minor leagues since 1964. When the parent Baltimore Orioles failed to take him off the Rochester roster last December, Ferraro reverted to minor league status for the first time since the 1966 season.

Two excellent spring training seasons and two all star designations in the International League (1968 and 1969) have failed to reward him with a legitimate shot at a major league berth.

Nobody realizes more than Mike Ferraro that time is running out in his major league aspirations.

"I'm going down to spring training just like I was starting all over again," he says. "If we win the International League championship and the Little World Series, something might happen. I'm giving myself one more chance."

Albany State Takes Siena Five, 72-63

ALBANY—Always steady Jack Adams, the smallest player on the floor at 5-9 made one of the biggest contributions Saturday night as State University at Albany registered an eased-up 72-63 basketball victory over rival Siena College.

With a record crowd of over 3,000 spectators looking on in the State gym, Adams pumped in a season-high 18 points and added his usual hustling floor game for the host Great Danes, who combined a deliberate offense with sticky defense to hand the Indians their 11th loss in 17 games this season. State has a 10-6 record.

Steve Sheehan sent the Great Danes out in front for keeps 6-5, and continued to build up a lead of 38-27 at halftime. Sheehan and Mike Hill kept all time scoring leader Bob Hermann to 11 points and Hermann didn't score from the field until only 2:56 remained in the game.

Mike Seymour led the Siena attack with 14 points and Andy Murphy added 9 points. Jack Jordan aided Adams in the State win with 16 points. State built up a 55-37 lead with 9:46 remaining in the game.

Mike Seymour led the Siena attack with 14 points and Andy Murphy added 9 points. Jack Jordan aided Adams in the State win with 16 points. State built up a 55-37 lead with 9:45 remaining in the game.

Siena shot only 53 per cent from the foul line as they missed 19 of 40 free throws. State hit on 28 of 58 field goal tries for a 48.3 per cent, while the Indians connected on 21 of 50 attempts for 42 per cent. Siena took the edge in rebounds 45-44.

It was a different story in the Frosh game as Siena won its 11th game in 15 starts this season. Steve Howard led the little Indians with 22 points. Werner Kohn of Kingston tallied 10 points for the Siena Frosh.

Fred Shear led Albany State with 30 points as he pumped in 12 field goals and sank 6 from the charity line.

BROCKPORT

New Paltz State University's basketball team took a 94-43, shellacking from Brockport State Saturday night, and things don't look any brighter tonight as they travel to Philadelphia to take on Philadelphia Textile. Philadelphia is only ranked 20th in the nation and recently lost to Villanova by only 4 points.

The win gave Brockport sole possession of first place in the SUNYAC with a 7-1 record, while they boast a 15-2 overall mark. New Paltz has a 0-9 SUNYAC record and 3-17 overall mark.

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Tiddlywinks may never replace football or baseball as a spectator sport, but the spectators on hand Sunday at Cornell University got an eyeful that prompted some remarks. The players' uniforms varied from a kit on one to the boloro jacket and bell bottom trousers on another. Long hair on some draped to the table and had to be brushed aside so a shot could be made. Frazier Still Solid Favorite

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Gossip singing Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier, whose style is hard rock, are set to do their real thing tonight—fight for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Frazier, champion of six states including New York, rules as heavy favorite over Ellis, the World Boxing Association king, for the scheduled 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

The Las Vegas price on Frazier is 6-1, while New York bookies said it's Frazier 5-1 in man-to-man betting. Little or no wagering has been reported. "I think he's the champion, so he should be the favorite," says Yank Durham, Frazier's manager.

"I'm not betting money so it makes no difference," says Ellis.

Durham predicts Frazier will win by a knockout but has not named a particular round.

"I don't predict," says Ellis' manager, Angelo Dundee, "but I won't be amazed if Jimmy knocks him out."

The fight is set for 10:30 p.m. EST, following a scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout between Gregorio Peralta of Argentina and unbeaten George

Foreman, like Frazier an Olympic champion.

The fight will be seen in this country only on closed circuit television at 120 locations with more than 500,000 seats. New York and a 90-mile surrounding area will be blacked out, but the title by stopping Buster Mathis in 11 rounds March 4, 1968, and his last fight was a successful 15-round defense against Floyd Patterson Sept. 14, 1968.

Frazier's fighting style resembles his singing style—he has cut a few records. He is a swarming two-fisted puncher who swarms over his opponent, constantly applying pressure. He's fond of saying, "I'll come out smoking."

But he can be hit, being decked by Mike Bruce in his second pro fight and twice by Oscar Bonavena. And although Ellis, who sings with his wife in churches, is primarily a boxer, he can hit and hurt. His best punch is a sneak right hand.

Ellis has only been knocked down once, by Rubin "Hurricane" Carter in 1964, and he contends that was a slip.

A referee and two judges, to be named at ringside, will score the fight under the round system. If the rounds are even, they will use a supplementary point system.

The regular rules of the New York State Athletic Commission will be in effect. They will use eight-ounce gloves. The mandatory eight-count will be used for all knockdowns and if a fighter is down three times in the same round, the fight will be stopped. If a fighter is down when the bell rings, the count will be continued until he is up or eight, except if it is the 15th round.

Spott, Benny Parsons and Iggy Katona of Willis, Mich., in a Dodge Daytona, were the big leaders. Katona was fully in command up until a blown tire put his car out with only three laps to go.

Spott's 189.377 mph qualifying speed was faster than those of the NASCAR Plymouth hotshots—Pete Hamilton and Richard Petty. In Sunday's race, Spott's speed was 142.086, slower than last year's record of 152.730 mph turned by Andy Hampton.

The pace was slowed considerably by five caution flags on 33 laps to mark two spins, a

It also will be seen via satellite in Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Mexico, South America, parts of Europe and parts of Asia. Boston established another Coliseum record.

In other NBA games, Detroit beat Chicago 126-119, Jim Washington scored a career high 34 points to lead Philadelphia to a 159-125 rout over Phoenix, Los Angeles whipped Milwaukee 98-86 in the last six seconds on a 20-foot jumper by Jerry West and San Diego crushed Cincinnati 150-123.

In the American Basketball Association, Washington beat Indiana 120-111, Los Angeles outscored Kentucky 121-113, the New York Nets defeated Miami 108-100 and Pittsburgh stopped Carolina 120-103.

In Saturday NBA games, the New York Knicks edged Philadelphia 116-114, Milwaukee beat Boston 127-117, Chicago defeated Los Angeles 116-113 and San Diego breezed past San Francisco 141-123.

Hudson set career highs at the free throw line, where he was successful in 16 of 18 attempts. He also hit on 10 of 18 tries from the field, in helping Atlanta remain one game ahead of Los Angeles in the Western Division.

John Havlicek was high for Boston with 31 points.

In Detroit, Clem Haskins drilled in 11 straight baskets from the floor to equal a Cobo Arena record in lifting the Bulls to a 14-point edge before the Pistons started their rally from a 74-60 deficit in the third period.

The teams were tied 108-108 with five minutes left in the game when baskets by Bing and Bill Hewitt put Detroit ahead to stay. Bing scored 17 of his 22 points in the final quarter and also had a season high of 13 assists.

Washington collected nine field goals and 16 free throws for Philadelphia as the 76ers equaled their season high of 159 points in a game. Philadelphia scored 159 points against San Diego last Jan. 25.

Darrell Imhoff of the 76ers played his 399th consecutive game Sunday, the longest such streak at present in the NBA.

West, who finished with a game-leading 28 points, capped the Laker comeback by taking a pass deep in the right corner and shooting it over two Buck defenders guarding him. Then he blocked a similar desperation attempt by Milwaukee's Jon McGlocklin, who wound up with 21 points.

San Diego erupted for 47 points in the final period and its 150 points at the expense of Cincinnati was the most in the club's three-year history.

Stu Lantz, with a career-high 36 points, topped the Royals while Fred Foster led the Royals with 32, 1 in the third period.

New Record For Rangers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Rangers shattered a National Hockey League scoring record for consecutive games, regained first place in the East Division, and blanked Montreal—all in one day.

Donnie Marshall scored from up close in the first 70 seconds of the game and extended to 118 the number of consecutive regular season games in which the Rangers have scored. The record broke the New York's old mark of 117 set in 1940-1942.

The 2-0 shutout Sunday was the fourth of the season for goalie Ed Giacomin and his first in 2½ months.

In other NHL games, Philadelphia routed Los Angeles 7-1, Pittsburgh dumped Detroit 4-2, Minnesota and St. Louis fought to a 3-3 tie and Chicago beat Toronto 6-4.

In Saturday NHL games, Detroit beat Montreal 5-2, Toronto edged Philadelphia 4-3, Boston blanked Pittsburgh 3-0, Chicago defeated Minnesota 5-2 and St. Louis nipped Los Angeles 2-1.

Rookie Bill Fairbairn got the Rangers' other goal on a rebound early in the third period and after that New York concentrated on protecting Giacomin's shutout. Giacomin kicked out 19 shots and helped the Rangers to a two-point lead over idle Boston in the East Division.

Bill Sutherland started Philadelphia's scoring barrage with two goals in the first period. The Flyers got four more in a wild second period by Terry Ball, Simon Nolet, Earl Keiskala and Garry Peters. Jim Johnson ended the Flyers' scoring with 3:21 remaining.

Bill White's 55-foot shot in the second period put the Kings on the board.

Keith McCreary scored his 15th and 16th goals for Pittsburgh and Brian Hextall and Ken Schinkel added Penguin scores.

Minnesota's Danny Lawson and Terry Crisp of St. Louis exchanged unassisted goals in the final three minutes, with Crisp striking first at 17:08 of the third period. Lawson retaliated for the North Stars 48 seconds later.

The Blues had tied the game 2-2 at 19:28 of the opening period on Red Berenson's unassisted power play goal.

Bobby Hull scored a pair of goals, one while his team was short-handed, to pace Chicago. The victory moved the Black Hawks to within one point of Detroit in the battle for fourth place in the East Division.

Hulls first goal of the night and 24th of the season came at 16:52 of the first period and snapped a 1-1 tie. The Black Hawks put it away on third-period goals by Hull and Stan Mikita.

Oh, Denny McLain Where Are You?

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitching ace Denny McLain remained enshrouded in two mysteries Sunday, mysteries which grow deeper with each day that passes.

There is still no explanation of what "off the field activities" were discussed when McLain, the first pitcher ever to receive the coveted Cy Young award two years running, was questioned Friday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

As great a mystery is what has happened to McLain since the Friday meeting. Neither he, nor his wife, nor his lawyer nor business manager can be found—not in Detroit, not in Lakeland, where the Tigers are to open their spring training camp shortly.

Tiger officials have steadfastly declined to comment on the entire incident.

McLain is also known to have met last week with James Ritchie, head of a Detroit-based U.S. Justice Department task force handling an investigation of organized crime and gambling. The subject of that meeting is unknown and Ritchie, like McLain and the men around him, has been unavailable for comment.

Ed Demetrak, McLain's former business manager, says the pitcher talked to federal authorities because their investigation "deals with people Denny may have known."

Demetrak said McLain has done nothing illegal.

McLain has received considerable publicity recently because of some financial difficulties.

McLain recently took out a $30,000, seven per cent interest debt consolidation loan from Detroit Bank and Trust Co.

Under the terms of his loan, McLain's Tiger paycheck of about $5,000 monthly, will be sent directly to the bank through July 15 to repay the loan.

AN ORIGINAL — Bill Kidd, 26, of Stowe, Vt., gets a jubilant ride on the shoulders of teammates at the Alpine Ski Championships Sunday in Val Gardena, Italy, after he became the first American skier in history to win a Gold Medal in combined competition, awarded for overall results in the slalom, giant slalom and downhill. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Billy Kidd First Gold Medalist

VAL GARDENA, Italy (AP) — Billy Kidd surprised even himself in winning the combined title for the United States at the World Ski Championships, in what turned out to be his farewell performance as an amateur.

"I wouldn't have bet a single cent on my gold medal before coming here," he said Sunday. The Stowe, Vt., skier who tied for fifth in the downhill, gave the United States its first gold medal in the history of the World Championships and capped its best showing since the 1964 Olympics at Innsbruck. Then he announced the race was his last as an amateur.

"I don't know yet whether I'll turn pro or go to work," he said after clinching the combined title with a 21.5 point total for an easy victory over Patrick Russell of France, who had 50.15.

Kidd was a favorite going into the final race because of his 15th place finish in the giant slalom and third place in the special slalom earlier in the week. It was the second medal for Kidd and the fourth for the U.S. team.

Kidd, wearing a back corset, negotiated the 26 gates in the downhill in 2 minutes, 25.52 seconds, less than one second slower than winner Bernhard Russi of Switzerland who was timed in 2:24.57. While the United States' finish here was a surprise, Kidd's announcement

"Everyone knows I have been considering this decision for quite a while," he said. "It is only natural, as I am 26 and I have chronic back trouble. I had to race in the downhill with a corset. It did not bother me too much, but it has edged me out of amateur racing. I just needed another medal today to quit on the winning side."

"After my bronze in the slalom, I was counting on another medal in the downhill. But used the wrong wax." Kidd's announcement came on the heels of Kiki Cutter's disclosure that she was planning to quit skiing, although she said she might change her mind.

Kiki's decision came at the end of a disappointing season. She had placed fourth in the over-all World Cup standings last year, but was only 16th this year with very few top placings. Unheralded Karl Cordin of Austria was second in 2:34 and Malcolm Milne took third in 2:25.09 for Australia's first medal ever in the world championships.

France's total of 10 medals, which included Russell's silver in the combined, was only one short of its total in the Grenoble Olympics.

Kidd's teammates did not fare as well in the downhill. Rudd Pyles of Frisco, Colo., was 11th in 2:27.13; Bobby Cochran of Richmond, Vt., 26th in 2:29.90, and Mike Lafferty of Eugene, Ore., 31st in 2:30.58.

Russi, a 21-year-old industrial designer, gave Switzerland a surprising second gold medal.

Trevino a Winner

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino, brash and cocky as ever, had just pulled one out of the fire, and was talking about his golfing philosophy.

"You gamble when you have to," said the happy-go-lucky guy with the infectious grin following his playoff victory with Bob Murphy in the $100,000 Tucson Open golf tournament.

"I was two down at the turn and there, I'm too devoted to the game, love it too much, not to win."

He and Murphy, who had matched 18-hole scores through out the course of the tournament, 66 on the first day, followed by 68 and 72, each had a final 69 on the sunny, 7,200-yard, par-72 Tucson National Golf Club course for 275.

Charles Coody came in with a 68 for 277 and Bob Lunn took fourth with a 70 for 278. John Lotz, the second round leader, followed with a 72 for a 279, with Fred Marti and Frank Beard following at 280.

Coody, Lotz and Lunn all made runs at the leaders on the final day. But it was, essentially, a battle between the chubby Murphy and swarthy Trevino.

"It always feels good to win," he said.

"But I've been too close not to win. The only way I can keep from winning golf tournaments is to quit playing golf. I may never win another major title, but I'll win tournaments here

Georgia Tech Makes Wreck of N. Carolina

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Oh, they're the Rumbling Wreck from Georgia Tech, da dum . . ."

Yes, and while Georgia Tech was making a wreck of North Carolina, unflappable UCLA continued to waltz away with another college basketball game.

Georgia Tech engineered two major upsets over the weekend, taming fifth-ranked North Carolina State 89-77 and 10th-ranked North Carolina 104-95 on successive nights Friday and Saturday.

The top-ranked Bruins, meanwhile, slammed Washington 101-85 Saturday night for their 20th victory this season and 24th straight dating back to last year.

"This is a better UCLA club than the one in 1964," said Coach Tex Winter of Washington.

Winter referred to the year the Bruins beat Winter's Kansas State team en route to the NCAA championship.

"This team is better on the offensive boards than the one in 1965," Winter added. "It doesn't penetrate quite as well as the guards, and it's not as good on the press, but the shooting is outstanding."

Second-ranked South Carolina bounced back from last week's defeat by Davidson to stop Duke 82-65; No. 3 Kentucky spilled Florida 110-66; fourth-rated St. Bonaventure repulsed Providence 68-52; North Carolina State beat Clemson 102-84; No. 7 Jacksonville clouted New Orleans Loyola 96-75; No. 8 Penn topped Brown 90-75 and No. 9 Florida State squashed Tulane 112-77 in other Top Ten contests Saturday.

UCLA led by only 42-36 at halftime before Henry Bibby, who scored 21 points, and Steve Patterson, 18, started sniping from long range.

The Bruins ran off a 9-2 spurt against the Huskies at the outset of the second half to lock up the Pacific-8 contest.

Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech, who scored 27 Friday night, came back with 47 points Saturday to tie a Charlotte, N.C., Coliseum record set earlier this year by Louisiana State's Pete Maravich.

North Carolina's comeback try turned into a nightmare in the second half when the Tar Heels' Charlie Scott and Lee Dedmon fouled out with more than 10 minutes left.

The unranked Engineers thus strengthened their hopes of a post-season tournament bid with a 14-7 record.

John Roche, South Carolina's game-breaking guard, scored 34 points as the Gamecocks hoped to start another winning streak. Their defeat by Davidson cracked a string of 17.

Irrepressible Dan Issel pitched in 37 as Kentucky kept its lead in the Southeastern Conference and bruising Bob Lanier pocketed 26 in the St. Bonaventure victory.

Jacksonville managed to take New Orleans Loyola despite a sub-par performance by 7-2 Artis Gilmore. The friendly giant only managed 16 points, about 10 below his average.

Among the Second Ten, 12th-rated Marquette bounced DePaul 79-60; No. 14 Iowa blitzed Michigan State 103-77; No. 15 Houston squashed Miami, Fla., 118-98; Notre Dame, No. 16, downed Detroit 95-93 in overtime; No. 17 Western Kentucky ripped East Tennessee State 92-83; Washington State shocked No. 18 Southern Cal 66-63; No. 19 Columbia tripped Harvard 73-72 and 20th-ranked Georgia lost to Tennessee 57-55. Evans Was Good--McGrady Perfect

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lee Evans had a pretty good weekend but one step ahead of the Olympic champion was Martin McGrady, who had a perfect weekend.

McGrady, the 23-year-old Washington, D.C., schoolteacher, virtually unbeatable at 600 yards, climaxed a two-day snow-filled tour of the country with consecutive world shattering performances.

Saturday night at the 10th annual Mason-Dixon track and field games at Louisville, Ky., the smooth-striding McGrady lowered his own 600 record to 1 minute 8.5 seconds for his seventh triumph this year and 25th in 27 attempts since creating his world mark of 1:09 at the 8-lap oval in Louisville in 1966.

And Friday in Los Angeles McGrady knocked off Evans by inches in the 600 as each ran a 1:08.7, which lasted as a world record less than 24 hours.

"It seems every time I run well, McGrady gets me the same way — right at the finish," Evans said in Los Angeles, after losing to McGrady for the third time this season.

"I was physically tired," McGrady said Saturday in Louisville after making the trip from the West Coast in eight hours due to detours because of poor flying conditions, arriving just 1½ hours before his race.

"I was stiff during the race and really had to work to get the record," McGrady said. I wasn't worried about the competition but then heard footsteps with 50 yards to go. That made me push harder and inspired me."

The footsteps were that of Tommie Turner of Murray State, who finished two strides behind McGrady in 1:09.

Evans also won Saturday, taking the 600 at the Michigan State Relays. Evans of San Jose, Calif., the 400-meter Olympic winner, was clocked in 1:08.9.

John Carlos, another Olympian, considered the top sprinter in the world, met defeat for the first time Saturday in Michigan, dropping the 60-yard dash to Michigan State's Herb Washington.

Carlos, who had won 11 straight, finished third and was clocked in 6.3 seconds, finishing behind Washington at 6.1 and Jimmy Harris of Ohio State at 6.2. Big John came back to capture the 300-yard run in 30.3 seconds.

Carlos also won the 60 at Los Angeles and Dick Ralsback, former UCLA star, took the pole vault at 17 feet, 1 inch.

Double winners at Los Angeles and Louisville were Olympic champion Willie Davenport, winning the 60 and 70-yard high hurdles and Randy Matson, gold medalist at Mexico City in the shot put, winning his specialty at both meets.

Kathy Hammond of Seattle cracked the women's 500-yard mark at the Coast meet with a 1:06.3 clocking, while Mamie Railins, the Olympian from Chicago set a world standard for the women's 70-yard high hurdle with an 8.8 clocking.

Another world record shattered at Louisville was the 47.4 seconds in the women's 440-yard relay by the Atoms Track Club of New York, while Jim Green of Kentucky and Larry Highbaugh laps to the mile.

Friday Kansas State, anchored by Ken Swenson, bettered two world records in the two-mile (7:22.3), and sprint medley (3:17.3), relays.

Fred Newhouse of Prairie View A&M took the 440-yard college division race in 45.6 for another world best while Villanova's Larry James took the university division in 46.9. Wildcat Miller, teammate Marty Liquori swept to the mile title in 4:05.5.

Saturday more records toppled as Houston recorded a 9:34.0 time in a distance medley and Texas A&M posted a 3:05.7 for the mile relay. Gerald Tinker of Memphis State tied the world 100-yard dash mark of 9.4 seconds set last year by Lennox Miller.

Cite Nick Castiglione As the Best Sportsman

PORT EWEN — Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club tapped Nick Castiglione of Kingston as the 14th recipient of its coveted Best Sportsman Award at the club's 34th annual banquet Saturday at the Capri Restaurant.

Tom Johnson, news commentator and host of the Hudson Valley Sportsman Show on station WBAZ in Kingston, presented the Hudson Valley Sportsman Award posthumously to Mrs. Ann Post in recognition of the many accomplishments in the field of sports and conservation by her late husband, Roland Post, who was president of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club when he died in June, 1969.

Johnson explained in his presentation that the award was prompted by the many letters and phone calls he had received regarding the many achievements that were credited to Mr. Post during his lifetime. The award is sponsored by Numrich Sports Center of West Hurley.

Club habitat chairman for 1969, Chester Joy, was awarded the club's Achievement Award Plaque. Charles Ruschak received the club's yearly humorous trophy. Ruschak's award was accepted by his wife because he was unable to attend the banquet. Other humorous awards were made to Dr. Herb Zaccaro, Emerson Mayes, William Brennan, Frank Genter, Paul McGuire, Charles Goble, Joseph Aiello and Irma Duncan.

Mrs. Rita Senor, president of the club's auxiliary saluted the gathering with words of greeting from this fast growing group.

Club president John LaLima gave a progress report on club activities and urged continued support for the many projects planned this year. He also introduced the club's choice for honorary membership, Ray Caunitz, Ed Davey and Chet Joy, whose combined membership years total more than 75. LaLima also announced that the new skeet facilities would be in operation this year at the club's modern trap and skeet field in St. Remy.

Among the guests introduced by toastmaster Robert Saehloff were William Housen and Dorothy Sperle, landowners, and Albert Roberts, a conservation officer.

Ulster CCC Matmen Finish 3rd in MHC

KINGSTON — Ulster County Community College's wrestling team clinched third place in the Mid Hudson Conference by dumping Westchester 23-14. Friday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

The win gave the Senators a 2-2 MHC record and a 7-5 overall mark. First place went to the powerful Orange Community College with a 4-0, second to Rockland at 3-1, fourth to Westchester 1-3 and last to Dutchess 0-4.

John Warfel won the only pin by the Senators in the 150 pound class as he dumped his opponent in 3:04. Decision wins were won by Rich Oakley—142; Clyde Kaneshiro—126; for Ulster. The Senators won three weight classes by forfeits.

The Senators didn't fair to well the next day as they dropped a 41-5 decision to Farmingdale making its overall mark 7-6 on the season.

The only Ulster points came on a forfeit win in the 167 pound class.

Thirteen in Row For St. Mary's

KINGSTON — Mike Kiernan led with nine points, as St. Mary's Tyros defeated Immaculate Conception Jayvees, 34-26 for their 13th straight victory. John Kwasnowski and Jim Olen had 8 each for J6.

St. Mary's (34) — Kiernan 9, DeCicco, Terpening 4, Yonta, Mercier 2, Wenzel, McCloskey 8, Scheffel 4, Timbrouck 7. Immaculate Conception (26) — Kwasnowski 8, P. Wenzel 6, Olen 8, Tiano, McCormick 4.

Mann Wins Burdines

MIAMI (UPI)—Towering Carol Mann, making her "best start ever" in tournament play, socked home a par putt in the first hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday to win the $40,000 Burdines Ladies Invitational golf tournament over Sandra Haynie.

The two were tied going into the final round and ended the regulation 18 with identical 75s for the day—even par 216 for the tournament.

Miss Haynie, who was on crutches as the result of a knee operation until just a few weeks ago, hit her tee shot into a trap, and reached the green in three, to bogey the first playoff hole. Miss Mann made her par four on the 350-yard hole for the victory.

"This is my best start ever in tournament play," said Miss Mann, of Towson, Md. "Miami is lucky for me." Last year she finished third in the Burdine.

Tied for third place in the LPGA tourney at 219 were Jane Blalock, Marilyn Smith and Sandra Palmer. In fourth at 220 were Derta Whalen and Sharon Miller.

Miss Mann collected $6,000 for the win. Miss Haynie got $4,200 and the three third placers got $2,433 each.

Sometimes we get the feeling we're being followed.

Everybody's getting into the act.
Everybody's making a small car.

And since we've made more of them than anyone else, we thought we'd pass along some things we've learned about the business over the years:

First off, there's no doubt about it, the only way to make an economy car is expensively.

So Rule No. 1, don't scrimp.

Get yourself the best engineers in the business and then hire 9,000 or so top inspectors to keep them on their toes.

Next, try to develop an engine that's not a gas-guzzler. If you can get it to run on pints of oil instead of quarts, great. If you can get it to run on air instead of water, fantastic.

Work on things to make your car last longer. Like giving it 45 pounds of paint to protect its top and a steel bottom to protect its bottom.

Important: Make sure you can service any year car you make. There's nothing worse than having someone find out that a part they need to make their cargo is no longer available.

Finally, spend less time worrying about what your car looks like and more time worrying about how it works.

Perfecting a good economy car is a time-consuming business. So far it has consumed 25 years of our time.

Dear Abby

Seeks Aid on Question

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I understand that you confer with clergymen when it comes to religious matters, so here is one for you to ask a rabbi.

We recently buried my father. He and mamma had been married nearly 40 years, and daddy always wore the wedding ring mamma gave him. It was his wish to be buried wearing that ring. During his illness he lost a lot of weight and the ring became loose on his finger, but he wanted so much to wear it until the very end that he wrapped some tape around it.

When dad died and it came time to bury him, the man at the Jewish mortuary (he was not a rabbi) told mamma that according to Jewish law, "we come into this world with nothing, and we should leave with nothing," so daddy could not be buried with his ring.

Of course my mother felt terrible, but she couldn't do anything about it, so they buried daddy without his ring.

What I would like to know is, was that man at the Jewish mortuary right or wasn't he?

THE DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: It is the opinion of the rabbis with whom I have discussed your letter that altho the man at the mortuary quoted Jewish "philosophy," it is not Jewish law. But even if it were, the wishes of your mother should have been respected. Too bad your mother didn't consult a rabbi.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that letter from "HANDSOME JIM IN BOSTON," who wrote, "When my wife and I were married, folks said 'How could Handsime Jim ever marry that tub of lard!'"

Eleven years ago I married a little 105-pound brunette gal. Since that day she has helped me to raise three lovely daughters that were mine from a former marriage. That little woman has helped me build a business that has been very good to us. So good in fact that we now own five Rolls Royces and four Mercedes, and one of the most beautiful homes in this city. We don't owe a dime to anyone either.

Right now my little brunette weighs 135 pounds and she's 5 feet tall, so you can see she's put on a few pounds. But that doesn't bother me. Last time I noticed she was getting slightly plump, I said, "Honey, if you continue to gain weight I will just have to buy you a bigger mink coat next year." She's the greatest.

JOHN LEWIS,
LAWTON, OKLAHOMA

DEAR JOHN: No she isn't. YOU are!

DEAR ABBY: I have had the feeling for a long time that my husband is too fond of his sister. He has a brother he rarely sees, but he MUST see his sister regularly.

I don't think it's jealousy on my part as I know he loves me, and I love him dearly, but even though this sister of his is married, her husband and I are "outsiders" when those two get together. I don't think I have an evil mind, Abby, but do you think what I am hinting at is possible. For heaven's sake do not use my name or town.

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes, it is possible. But if I were you,

I would not harbor any such far out suspicions. Some brothers and sisters are close and have a very real affection for each other, but that's as far as it goes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.P.S.: You are so right. Never explain. Your friends don't need it, and your critics will not believe you anyway.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490).

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You want quick action, but some restraint is advisable. Utilize innate ability to be original, to arouse enthusiasm. You may find that older individual is somewhat skeptical.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Don't embark upon journey, no matter how short, without complete knowledge of why, where and how. Your hunches are correct. If you perceive need for delay, heed that perception.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Money involves friends, perhaps mixing of business with pleasure. Be versatile. Display humor, flexibility. But don't mistake flattery for real responsibility.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Cycle high, but some in authority flex muscles at you. Have facts at hand. Your files, information, opinions may be tested. Be ready. Then you are more likely to succeed.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22): Change, travel, variety keynote day. There are undercurrents which make it virtually impossible to lay down definite guidelines. Much of what you seek requires additional planning.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): Good lunar aspect today coincides with aid from friends—both in moral and financial areas. Mate, partner displays aggressiveness. Your task is to maintain harmony.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Dynamic day. You find out where you stand. Now go after the why. Be reasonable and analytical. Seek reasons. Go to the source. Then you heal emotional wounds.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Good lunar aspects today coincide with long-range ventures. Get in condition—both mental and physical. Look ahead. Refuse to be chained to past.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Affairs of heart command attention. You may be diverted from vital task. But realize your emotions require outlet. One who is good to you deserves appreciation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Best to permit others to make definite assertions. Withhold judgement. Some conditions around you are temporary, not permanent. Bide your time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Pacing is important. Avoid moving too fast. Know where you are going—and why. If there is confusion, organize it. Means ride with the tide. Message will become increasingly clear.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Guard possessions. Some would like to take over some of your valuables. Key is to be alert, maintain sense of humor. Laugh at individual who puts forth preposterous scheme.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have ability to accumulate material goods. What you require is more self-esteem. Be confident. Know you have ability and concentrate on success. You will be finishing rather than starting major project this year.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

FROZEN POP: (Q.) My girl friends and I got into bad trouble with some house builders. My parents found out, and treat me like I wasn't their daughter.

When my dad comes home he kisses everyone but me. He snaps at me. When I smile at him he just turns away. He won't talk to me.

Mom says to give him time. But I'm thinking of running away. My girl friends are, too. What should I do? I'm 13.—Deeply Hurt in Rhode Island

(A.) What you and the house builders did must have been pretty much to upset your father to such a degree.

Don't run away. Go to him and tell him: (1) You're sorry. (2) You've learned and will do right from now on. (3) You're willing to take any punishment he decides on, but you love him and want him to love you, and that it is not fair for him to take his love away. I believe he will hear you.

BOY WANTED: (Q.) I am a very nice young lady. I am 16 and want a boy friend. But my parents don't think I should have one yet. My mother says I am very mature, but sometimes I just sit and cry like a baby.

I think of all the 16-year-old girls who can have boy friends, while I can't. Please help me.—Sitting and Crying.

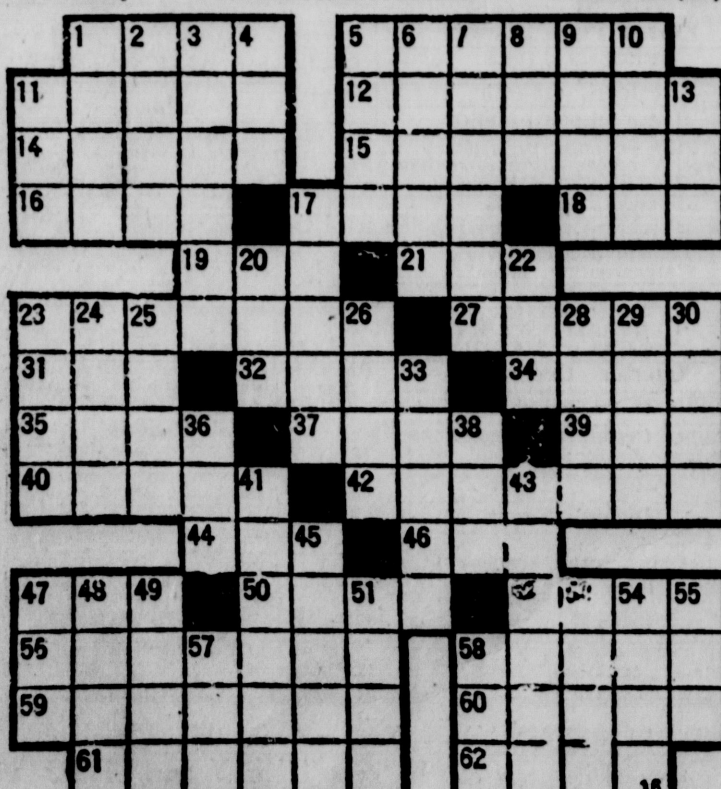

(A.) You are old enough to have a boy friend or boy friends and to have dates—at least double-dates.

Your parents should realize that friends of the opposite sex are natural, normal, and good medicine for a 16-year-old.

Color Would Have Helped

NEW YORK (AP) — It is a rare television program today that is not made in color. Producers of programs think in terms of color, rely on it, build effects on it. Yet 60 per cent of the nation's television homes still can see only black and white pictures.

This viewer, with a color set hospitalized for emergency treatment, found many black and white programs, particularly weekend sports shows, lacking a vital, enlivening ingredient, like salt in soup.

The initial program of this season's "Experiment in Television" on NBC Sunday afternoon was not an hour that, in any event, would be every viewer's choice. It was a fantasy, "Dream on Monkey Mountain," full of the dreams and hopes of a West Indian black man. It was a film in Trinidad and performed by a talented native history. It started with Leif Ericson and Christopher Columbus and wound up with our astronauts landing on the moon. In between, a chronological mixup of Americana wandered wildly and widely from the ar-ropes of the Pilgrims to Teddy Roosevelt's San Juan Hill charge and all wars.

Mostly the program was done in cartoon style with near-sighted jokes, but the Civil War period was covered with old lithographs and drawings—animated to show the cannons belching flame, and attempts at humor were, happily, temporarily abandoned.

Again, color would have added some 50 per cent to the viewing pleasure. But humor, history, patriotism and cartoons did not seem to mix comfortably.

Survival on the Prairie," an NBC nature special Friday night was, without the addition of color, just another travelogue-type hour with a self-consciously poetic script. It specialized in dramatic shots of great expanses of prairie grasses bending to the wind, of snow and of rushing streams—all of which might have been a visual delight. Hugh Downs handled his role as narrator with earnest dignity.

Where there is a fast-moving story—a Western or action show or even a situation comedy—color or lack of color does not make much difference. It might be a good idea if the producers took a look at the product once in a while in black and white.

S. Viet Troops Kill 182

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese troops killed 182 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers in some of the heaviest fighting in the northern war zone province since early January, military spokesmen said today.

The South Vietnamese fought two large-scale battles Sunday 7 to 10 miles south and southwest of Hoi An, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon. The area is near mountain hideouts used by both North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

South Vietnamese armored cavalry units reinforced by two Ranger battalions reported killing 145 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong and capturing 12 others in an all-day battle seven miles south of Hoi An.

Military spokesmen estimated two guerrilla battalions were involved and that the South Vietnamese killed a battalion commander, an assistant battalion commander and a company commander.

In a second clash 11 miles southwest of Hoi An, South Vietnamese regional force militiamen killed 37 guerrillas. Military spokesmen described South Vietnamese casualties as light.

Near the Cambodian border, U.S. 1st Air Cavalrymen called in artillery, helicopter gunships and air strikes in killing three guerrillas 12 miles north of Tay Ninh City and 65 miles northwest of Saigon. One American was killed and 11 wounded.

In the air, U.S. B52s flew a raid over the A Chau Valley, 35 miles southwest of the northern city of Hue, dropping more than 90 tons of bombs.

In Vientiane, North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops today fired 14 long-range rockets into Pakse, a vital government stronghold in Southern Laos, military spokesmen said.

The missiles missed their apparent targets, the airfield and government military installations, and instead hit villages nearby, killing one person and wounding several, the report said.

Pakse is 270 miles southeast of Vientiane and is the only government stronghold in an area largely controlled by the North Vietnamese who man the Ho Chi Minh Trail from North to South Vietnam.

One of the rockets this morning hit the compound of the U.S. Agency for International Development but there was no damage reported.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says "Vietnamization" is proceeding "ahead of schedule" in South Vietnam and more U.S. troop pullouts can be expected because of continuing progress.

However, the defense chief, who returned Sunday from a three-day inspection of the war zone, declined to say whether the progress he saw in the military program would bring a speedup in President Nixon's troop withdrawal timetable.

In a brief news conference at Washington National Airport upon his arrival, Laird refused to speculate on any additional troops withdrawals beyond the 115,000 men scheduled to be brought home by April 15.

BACK FROM VIETNAM — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, returning Sunday from an inspection of the war zone, said the U. S. can expect more U. S. troop pullouts from Vietnam because of continued progress in turning the war over to the South Vietnamese. Here, Laird (R) bids farewell to Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, who accompanied him, as they depart the airport. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

102 on Dominican Flight

Doubt Any Survived Air Crash

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—A from the Airport of the Dominican Airways DC9 jetliner with 102 persons lost power in one engine and crashed into the Caribbean moments after takeoff Sunday night. A Navy spokesman said there appeared to be no survivors.

The twin-jet DC9, in service only one month, faltered just after takeoff on the 250-mile flight to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The pilot radioed the control tower that an engine had failed and he was losing power. The plane banked into a right turn and plunged into the sea.

Among the 97 passengers and five crewmen were former world lightweight boxing champion Carlos "Teo" Cruz, his wife and two children; a 12-member Puerto Rican women's volleyball team, and the wife and daughter of former President Antonio Imbert Barreras, who helped plot the assassination of dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina in 1961.

The 13th member of the Puerto Rican volleyball team, Carmine Rosa Sabater, escaped the fate of her team members because she had gone to San Juan Saturday to attend an Olympic Committee dinner where she was cited as the outstanding female volleyball player in Puerto Rico.

Dominican Airlines said this catastrophe that has claimed so many useful lives of our two countries," Belaguer said. "I present to your excellency testimony of the solidarity of our government and our peoples to Puerto Rican families who have so sadly suffered by this terrible tragedy."

ident Joaquin Belaguer cabled condolences to Gov. Luis A. Ferre of Puerto Rico.

It was the worst civil aviation disaster in Dominican history and recalled a 1943 plane crash in which 30 baseball players were killed.

Moslems Call for Liberation

By United Press International
Millions of Moslems throughout the Arab world began their holiest of feasts today with calls for continuing the fight against Israel until all occupied Arab lands are liberated.

Israeli warplanes on the eve of the Feast of Al Adha returned to the attack after a two-day layoff, raiding Egyptian military posts along the Suez Canal for four hours Sunday.

Official radio reports from Cairo and Damascus told how President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Nureddin el-Atassi of Syria led their people into the mosques this morning to hear sheikhs implore them to make sacrifices for the fight against Israel.

Cairo Radio, Damascus Radio and Beirut Radio all broadcast accounts of the celebrations on the first day of the Feast of Al Adha marking God's command to Abraham to sacrifice one of his sons.

The semiofficial Cairo news paper Al Ahran announced that government departments have been instructed to cut their expenses to give absolute priority to the Egyptian military budget, which runs about $1.15 billion annually.

The Israeli cabinet met in a secret session Sunday night but a spokesman said the members did not discuss Thursday's accidental raid on an Egyptian metal works that killed an estimated 70 persons.

Soviet on Peking Talks—Reconciliation Possibility

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet informant said today Moscow's top priority at the Peking border talks is to find out whether reconciliation with China is possible to end the split in the Communist world.

He said the chief of the Soviet negotiating team, First Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetsov, has settled in for a long

In Soviet eyes, the source said, reconciliation must mean China's return to the Communist fold led by Moscow. Failure could lead to a widening of the breach between the two Communist giants.

The informant is an official in a position to see important diplomatic papers passing between the Kremlin and high Soviet diplomats around the world. There was no way to determine whether he was stating the actual Soviet position or putting up a propaganda front. But his remarks in an interview coincided with an article in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, which said the Soviet Union is taking the initiative in trying to restore friendly relations between Moscow and Peking.

Kuznetsov returned to Peking at the start of the year for the second phase of the talks on the 4,000-mile border between the two countries.

The source in London said the Kremlin was heartened by Peking's willingness to renew the talks — broken off by Moscow in December — and especially by a Chinese agreement to broaden the discussion to include issues of trade and diplomacy.

At this point, the source said, Kuznetsov sent for his wife to join him for a long stay.

So far, he said, there has been no discussion of ideological differences. He appeared to believe that the danger of war in the heartland of Asia has receded. "There is no fighting as long as we are talking," he said.

The Kremlin was "fully aware," the source continued, that China agreed to renew the Warsaw ambassadorial talks with the United States only "in order to put pressure on us" in the Peking negotiations. Kuznetsov abruptly broke off the negotiations 48 hours after an informal meeting in Warsaw of American and Chinese diplomats. That meeting led to resumption of the American-Chinese talks on Jan. 20 after a two-year halt. The two ambassadors are scheduled to meet again in Warsaw Feb. 20.

The informant said Kuznetsov returned to Moscow in December "to study the new situation resulting from resumption of the Sino-American meetings."
